Graduation

Class of '61

Very Rev. Donald C. Duffie

In the absence of a yearbook for the 1960-61 term, this booklet has been put together as a brief memento of Convocation Week, which saw the graduation and departure from Mount Saint Vincent College of the Class of '61. We hope that it shall serve its purpose in reminding our classmates, should they peruse it casually in future years, of that wonderful, hectic week in May which climaxed four richly rewarding years at the "Mount."

The class as a whole wishes to extend deepest thanks to Sister Francis d'Assisi, our President, to Sister Frances Carmel, Dean of the College and our Class Moderator, and to all the Professors and staff-members who contributed so generously to our spiritual and intellectual development during those four years. Our memories of them shall be tender and lasting ones.

One of our brightest memories, of course, shall be of Monsignor Donald C. Duffie, our Chaplain and ever-faithful counsel, who left Mount Saint Vincent with us to take up duties as President of Saint Thomas College in Chatham, N.B. We wish him the best of success in his new appointment and assure him that we will not soon forget him, just as he has not been forgotten by the scores of Mount grads he has known over the years.

To him we dedicate this memento of happy times spent together, of friendships formed and milestones passed.

The Editors.

Class Prophecy -- Class of '61

The date is May 16 of a year well-advanced into the latter half of the twentieth century and as I move along a busy street in a large Canadian city, a placard in the display window of a big, officious-looking building catches my eye and I stop to look.

It announces a number of lectures to be given in the Civic Auditorium that week and to my great surprise, I recognize the names of many of the speakers.

The first name is that of Jackie Lynch whose topic is "How to Become an Expert Continent-Hopper in Ten Short Weeks." Then there is Terry Heslin who will speak on "The Art of Eluding Traffic Police" or "How to Beat the Speed Trap," and Avia Wilband whose topic is "How to Get Your Term Papers Done on Time." There is also Diane Lacey who will tell "How to Put One Over on Your Less-Experienced Bridge-Playing Friends," and Ann MacGregor who will speak on "The Art of Rapid Note-Taking in the Lecture Room."

I enter the building in order to get more information about these old friends and as I walk along the corridor I hear a familiar voice coming through a transom. I peek through the door and who should I see but Frances Foley who is giving instructions in the art of relaxing to a group of rather harried-looking secretaries.

After a brief chat I continue along my way and as I step into the elevator I meet, of all people, Olive Brown, who tells me she is now President of the Canadian Tall Girls' Association, which is currently conducting a cross-country membership drive. Her assistant is none other than Miss Mary Ettinger.

As I emerge from the building my eye is caught by a pair of overall-clad legs protruding from beneath a rather familiar white 1961 Valiant. As I watch, the figure slowly emerges, brushing back a straying blond lock with a grease-smeared hand and, wonder! I recognize Kitty O'Brien who tells me that she and Marie McDonald together own a very prosperous chain of service stations.

I turn to continue in the direction I am taking and who should I bump into but Jane Buckley, now President of the Buckley Wonder Drug Co., makers of that nationally used product "Pain Away," the super-strength headache killer. Maureen Hum is her chief researcher, she tells me.

Continuing once more along my way I come to an outdoor bookstall and I stop to browse. I recognize the names of a few of the authors. I see that On Ping Wong has written a novel entitled "The Self-Supporting Class Treasurer," and that Doris Ann Gagnon has one called "Poster Design for the College Student." Other best-sellers are "Tips for College Locker-Room Inspectors" by Mary Coolen, "Women in Science" by Barbara Selig and Eleanor Murphy, "The Pleasures of Working in a Steno Pool" by Brenda Sullivan, "Accounting Made Easy" by Joan Sim, and a manual entitled "New, Improved Basketball Rules for Girls" by Cathy O'Connor and Judy Silver.

I buy a copy of the New York Times and, turning to the entertainment page I note that Mrs. Jack Lightle (nee Norah Pelham) and Mrs. Robert Murphy (nee Caroline Ritcey) are co-directors of a smash Broadway revival of George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" with Paula Fortier in the lead role. May Lam and Joan Lewis are also being introduced to New York music audiences via Carnegie Hall.

I also notice an advertisement in the travel section announcing the opening of "Ye Olde New Englande Antique Shoppe" in New Bedford, Massachusetts, Pat Quinn, Proprietor.

The fashion page also reads like an old M.S.V.C. roster. I see where Jeanne Armstrong, now a nationally-famed ladies' shoe designer, has written an article entitled "Shoes for the Space Age," and that Ethel Steele, Nancy Hiltz and Cathy Godwin have just opened "The Canadian Woman," a very 'haute couture' Montreal fashion house. Pat Thompson, their chief buyer, has just returned from Paris where she viewed the new fall collections. Sonia Porter and Carole Murphy are also startling the world of ladies' millinery with their new "way out" hat designs.

I look up from my paper in time to observe a flurry-ing figure approaching, a figure I recognize to be Elaine Gardner. "Guess what's happened to me!" she says excitedly. Then she tells me of her appointment to the Board of Governors of the CBC. It is also she who gives me the news that Eleanor Marriott has just been appointed Personal Secretary to President John F. Kennedy, now serving his third term, that Edith Pettipas is assistant professor of history at the University of Toronto, that Barbara Burton and Pat Coughlin are co-directors of a major Canadian school for social work, and that Beth Poirier is enjoying her work as the fifth Martha Logan, representing Swift Canadian Ltd.

And this is how I came to learn, in the space of one short day, of the doings of that once-notorious group known as the Class of '61, Mount Saint Vincent College.
