Mount Saint Vincent University

Actress Trudi Peterson (left) and The Vacant Lot film crew pause between scenes, filmed at the Mount library.

Recently the Mount library was a flurry of activity as Picture Plant Ltd. of Halifax filmed a sequence for an upcoming feature film. Picture Plant's unit publicist Heather Levesque describes the 90-minute feature, entitled The Vacant Lot, as "a drama about David, an aging rock star and Trudi, a young female member of a punk rock band. It's not about rock & roll or punk music,

In the film, Trudi works part-time in a university library. The Mount library was chosen as a setting because, says Levesque, "It was available and seems a fairly typical university library."

Picture Plant Ltd. has sold broadcast rights to the First Choice pay TV network, Toronto's CITY-TV and CBC.

ON THE MOVE ON THE MOVE ON

Dr. Frances Early, chair of the women's studies department (and history department faculty), presented a paper at the annual meeting of the American Studies Association held recently in Miami Beach, Florida. Her paper was entitled, "Feminism, Peace and Civil Liberties: Women's Role in the Origin of the Civil Liberties Movement."

Natalie MacLean, a Mount public relations student, has been awarded a scholarship by the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) to attend the 1989 CASE District 1 Annual Conference in Montreal in February. Six CASE scholarships have been awarded for District 1, which includes the Atlantic provinces, Quebec and New England.

MacLean, of Lower Sackville, is a fourth-year co-operative education student in the Bachelor of Public Relations program. She is the recipient of the 1988-89 Kenneth Butler Scholarship, and the 1987 recipient of the Air Canada Fellowship based on co-operative work-term performance.

Two secretarial arts students in the Mount's office administration department were honored at a recent Executive Night dinner meeting of the Halifax/Dartmouth Chapter of Professional Secretaries International. Paula Sweeney of Miramichi, N.B. and Raylene Taylor of Florence, N.S. - both third year students in the Bachelor of Secretarial Arts degree program - were presented with the Geraldine Garnett, CPS (Certified Professional Secretary), Memorial Scholarships, awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement and involvement in extracurricular activities.

An Invitation

A University Community Memorial Service will be held Sunday, November 20 at 2 p.m. in Our Lady of Wisdom Chapel, Evaristus Hall. The ecumenical service, co-sponsored by the alumnae office and the campus ministry, is in memory of deceased members of the university community. Sr. Louise Bray, Mount chancellor, will officiate, while alumna and past board chair Janet Murray will give the address. Music will be provided by the Mount's student choir, directed by alumna Mary Kelly. A reception, sponsored by the alumnae office, will follow.

Mount Senate approves fall graduation list

At the Oct. 24 meeting of Senate, the Academic Policy and Planning Committee reported that sub-committees have been established to review the structure and role of Continuing Education and Co-operative Education at the university. The committee will review the roles, administrative structures, planning and review procedures in light of increasing demands and growth of the two departments.

The Committee on Admissions and Scholarships reported that a total of 34 scholarships were awarded to high school entrants this fall. Awards ranged from $500 to $1600 each, for a total of $34,600. In-course awards went to 66 students, totalling $66,980.

The Committee on Research and Publications reported on three competitions held during the 1987-88 year. In summary, the committee received 49 applications from 48 faculty members requesting $168,024. It recommended a total of 35 awards at the value of $58,676.

Senate also approved the fall graduation list, as follows:

Time off to vote

Employees eligible to vote in the federal election, Nov. 21, must be given time off to vote. Since the polls are open from 9 a.m.- 8 p.m., employees who normally leave at 5 p.m. may leave at 4 p.m., or employees may be given four consecutive hours off during the day, as per federal voting regulations. Supervisors and department heads should arrange staff hours to ensure that, whenever possible, all offices remain open until 5 p.m., while at the same time providing all eligible voters with the required four consecutive hours off to vote.

Awards offer opportunities for research

Imperial Oil Limited offers University Research Grants to full-time faculty members for work in areas that interest its petroleum, petrochemical and energy resource development businesses. These areas include the fields of engineering, environmental, earth, chemical, physical and computing sciences. They also include research in the social sciences pertaining to relationships between these businesses and their employees, customers and the commercial and social environment in which they operate. The individual grants are offered in units up to a maximum of $10,000 each. Grants are made for one year and are renewable. Applications for new grants and renewals must reach Imperial Oil no later than December 1, 1988.

For more information on both research grants programs contact Renee Dankner at ext. 350.

The International Development and Research Centre offers research awards to Canadian graduate students and young professionals challenged by Third World development issues. If you're interested in undertaking research in Latin America, Africa or Asia, contact the Fellowship Awards Division, International Development Research Centre, P.O. Box 8500, Ottawa, Ontario, K1G 3H9.

The Seton Cantata Choir
presents

What Cheer!

Wednesday, Dec. 14
in the Mount Saint Vincent
Motherhouse Chapel

Admission: $5/$3 students and senior citizens

Conductor Ray Grant, pianist Pat MacCormack and the Choir will be joined by guests Andrew Ager on organ and mezzo-soprano Sharon Dewolfe in a program featuring the works of Schutz, de Victoria, Howells, Willan, and others.

Tickets are available at the art gallery or the Centre for Continuing Education at the Mount, or from any member of the choir, or at the door.

The Seton Cantata Choir is sponsored by the Mount's Centre for Continuing Education.

Catherine MacDonald (second from right), a third year student in the Mount's Tourism and Hospitality Management degree program, is the first recipient of the Noel Levasseur Memorial Scholarship in tourism and hospitality management, presented by CP Hotels. With MacDonald at a recent awards ceremony is (left to right): President Naomi Hersom; Catherine Levasseur, widow of the late Noel Levasseur and part-time Mount student; E.G. Balderson, general manager of the Chateau Halifax; and Michelle Levasseur.

Rosaria staff issue a Christmas Daddies Challenge

Rosaria Centre staff are offering a challenge to the staff of Evaristus Hall and Seton Academic Centre to raise funds for the Christmas Daddies Telethon to be held on Sunday, Nov. 27, 1988.

Last year staff working in Rosaria raised $275 through a raffle and door prizes at a Christmas dinner. That event generated a great deal of fun and goodwill, and the Rosaria staff is hoping that other members of the university community will join them in raising funds for an excellent cause again this year.

The idea is to help plan and carry out a fund-raising event for employees to get together, enjoy and collect money for the Children's Aid Society.

Already the Rosaria staff have three events scheduled. Debbie Gladstone has agreed to co-ordinate Evaristus activities, and if you have ideas or wish to help out, give her a call at ext. 136. A volunteer co-ordinator is still needed for Seton staff.

You can help to give less fortunate children a happier Christmas. Support the Christmas Daddies.

OF INTEREST OF INTEREST OF INTER

Dr. Marguerite Andersen, the Mount's Distinguished Chair in Women's Studies, will give a talk, "On Love", Thursday evening, Nov. 24. Sponsored by the women's studies department, the talk which Dr. Andersen describes as "a literary collage" will start at 7:30 p.m., in Auditorium D of the Seton Academic Centre. A reception will follow.

The campus ministry is sponsoring an Antioch Weekend to be held Friday-Sunday, Nov. 25-27. The program, for persons between the ages of 19 and 25, is designed to stimulate awareness of the Christian ideal and its expression through prayer, study and action, within the context of a Roman Catholic liturgical and theological orientation. Fee for the weekend is $45, of which a $10 deposit must accompany the application. For further information and application forms call Sr. Lorraine d'Entremont, ext. 446.

Big season predicted for Mount teams

This month the women's volleyball team, women's and men's basketball teams and co-ed badminton team open their 1988-89 season.

June Lumsden, women's volleyball coach and Coach of the Year for the 1987-88 season, comments, "I'm looking forward to a good, strong output from a young team this year." Rick Plato, former All Canadian Guard with the Saint Mary's Huskies, has been working the Mount's men's basketball team very hard and says he's looking to improve last year's record. Anne Lindsay, who returns for her fourth year as women's basketball coach, notes, "I'm pleased with a recent exhibition win and I'm anxious to develop the potential I see in this year's team." Sherry Parks is new as this year's badminton coach. Parks, who successfully coached the Cole Harbour District High School team to a provincial championship last year, says she feels the Mount team looks very strong.

The following games are scheduled for the remainder of November:

NOV. 19: Men's basketball league opener, Technical University of Nova Scotia at the Mount, 7 p.m., Rosaria Gym

NOV. 23: Women's basketball league opener, Nova Scotia Teacher's College at the Mount, 6 p.m. Rosaria Gym; Men's basketball, Nova Scotia Teacher's College at the Mount, 8 p.m., Rosaria Gym
