To The Graduates

Dear Graduates:

As you stand at the parting of the ways, about to bid farewell to your school and companions, your hearts are filled with varied emotions. And we who watch you depart, realize that never again will you all be sheltered within these walls or roam these grounds as "the Class of '55". Truly, this is a time of sadness as well as joy.

As Graduates of Mount Saint Vincent Academy, you assume certain responsibilities toward life. You have the right attitude toward the personal responsibility which your future will unfold. Nowadays, the idea of personal responsibility seems to have almost vanished from the world. Many people feel no obligation to any person, and follow only the whim of the moment.

Some of you are fitted by nature for positions of trust, while others will be happier without such responsibility. If you belong in the former class, do not shirk your duty, but shoulder the burdens inevitably involved. Remember that criticism is the lot of those in authority. If you are not among the number of those who must lead the way for others, at least support those who do. Never join the malcontents who start "rocking the boat".

May your Mount school days, dear Graduates, ever be to you a sanctuary of memories, holding all the happy dreams and experiences which this Folia in part records. You depart with the determination to succeed wherever your lot be cast. May you, with God's help and blessing, achieve that which you desire, even to your final goal — Heaven.

Mistress General.

"What is so rare as a day in June," sang the poet - - and what is so precious as the passing from youthful high school days to the interesting paths that wind from the present June into the Future.

Although delighted with our plans for the years to come, we cannot help taking a backward glance over the past that we are bidding good-bye.

In the Fall of 1954, as Graduates, we returned to the Academy for the last time - - some of us to take Grade XII, and others to learn the art of shorthand and typing. As the Autumn leaves scurried across the ground, and the trees stood bare, the days grew colder and snow began to fall. Autumn had merged into Winter. And as the seasons changed, so did we.

All of us were learning to make adjustments in our own daily life, to suffer disappointments, however small, that were making each of us "more alive to tenderness". We were learning the art of living with people and we were becoming women.

January snows, February thaws, and March winds are things of the past. With the gloriousness of the Springtime, and on the eve of Summer, we are standing on the threshold of life. We have been trained to make our decisions wisely, and it is with glad hearts and gratitude to our superiors that we are facing our future and what it holds in store for us.

It will always be with a bit of nostalgia that we will look back on our Academy days. In the Springtime some of us, perhaps will even think of the bicycle path in the glow of her Spring attire, or in the Fall of the hikes to the Lakes.

It was here at the Mount that we established strong friendships, that we became better people, and it was here that we passed from Girlhood into Womanhood.

PATRICIA EATON

My Education at Mount St. Vincent Academy

No one can describe Christian Education better than Cardinal Newman has done in his motto, "Education is the preparation of the soul for God". That is what my life at Mount Saint Vincent Academy has been — a preparation for the place I must take in life, and ultimately, my preparation for Heaven and for God.

WINSOME BARBARA AT SEVEN

From the first day that I came to Mount Saint Vincent Academy as a small child of five years, I have been enjoying the most wondrous and beautiful gift — the gift of a fine Christian education. At that early age I joined my "big" sister, Jeanie, who was then in Grade Two. Although I was too young then to realize the wonderful privilege that was mine to grow up in this fine Academy with its beautiful surroundings, marble corridor, exquisite paintings, magnificent Roman Chapel, and its splendid library with its massive shelves bearing numerous books, still I was greatly impressed by all that my wondering eyes beheld.

What I marveled at most were the wonderful times we "Juniors" had; I found life away from home could be very happy. Our devoted Mistresses made our days at M. S. V. A. very happy ones. We were happy in class, too, although during my first days class hours were not very long, and after dinner I usually was sent to rest for a while.

I was just completing Grammar School, my eighth year of all that went to make up my school life — daily Mass and Holy Communion, classes well taught, supervised study that helped so much towards success in studies, recreations which included sports, hikes, picnics, and close association with the Sisters and with girls from many different provinces and countries. I was looking forward to High School and to four more years at the lovely Mount Saint Vincent Academy.

Little did I realize that there would be a great change. High School would follow and at Mount Saint Vincent Academy, but not in the beautiful building that had become my second home. On the night of January 31 — we were awakened by what we believed was the familiar "air-raid warning" as we had come to call the fire alarm when we had fire drills at night. In perfect order and silence we put on our slippers and house coats and followed the line to our "shelter" — the Recreation Hall, where a little red light burned before our enthroned picture of the Sacred Heart. Only there did we learn that in a remote part of the building fire had broken out and that we would have to put on our outdoor clothes and leave the building. From St. Mary's Cottage on the campus we watched our beloved Mount rapidly blaze up and come crashing down. When we passed on our way to the City we had our last glimpse of this great fire; when we returned again, it was to the grounds, cleared of the charred remains.

But while the building was gone the spirit and the Academy was not. Classes for us Junior Boarders were resumed shortly after at the Gainsborough Hotel in Hubbards. Here we enjoyed the luxury of private rooms and I found myself in a $12 room! Here in this delightful vacation spot we enjoyed life immensely. After school there would be games, hikes to new spots, and occasional yacht rides.

The Fall, however, found us back to the original Mount again for a new Academy has risen from the ashes; not a five-storey structure, but an attractive two-storey, rambling building with everything brand new and convenient in many ways. The Girls showed a fine pioneer spirit and adapted themselves very nicely to our new set up. Like the camel moving into the tent, we took over the building gradually, so the year brought many moves and changes, with never a dull moment. How well I remember carrying water, the unfinished and unfurnished classrooms, and our daily walks to the "White House" for meals, and taking our turns attending Mass in our small Chapel at Marillac. With the Sisters we watched the Academy reach completion and the day that Our Lord first came into our Chapel, March 21, 1952, was the day that He first came into the heart of one of our little boarders.

Then came the last three years of final preparation for life with Mary our Mother for Model. As a Sodalist I was taught to meditate on her life and virtues and to seek her help. I was taught that piety is not to be based on sentiment, but on the truths of our religion. I know that I will please God and His Blessed Mother if I act according to their ideals. We were also taught to put first things first and to acquire not only learning, but the qualities of leadership that would make us loyal, dependable, and good Catholics and citizens, for a good Catholic is synonymous with a good citizen.

Here we learned to appreciate what was ours — membership in Christ's true fold, living in the same house with the Blessed Sacrament, and our religion to study, and then to live. I came to realize that I had much to thank God for: my wonderful parents, who strove to give to each of us, all that was humanly possible; my sweet brothers and sisters whose unselfish love I shared; my lovely home where true love, faith, loyalty, and devotion were found. Yes, here at the Mount, I learned to count my blessings and to be thankful for them.

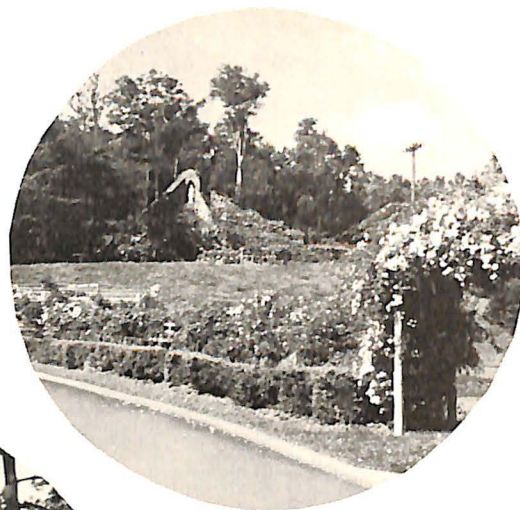

Now, I have finished by years here, and I, like my sister, Jean, will don the white cap and gown of a graduate of this fine Academy. I, too am ready to take upon myself the responsibilities of life, and to accept the inevitable difficulties with love and cheerfulness, knowing that they, too, are gifts from God, chastening and strengthening gifts. I have finished my training and will take up a position after a brief vacation, which will be but a stepping stone to my real career in life. May I be true to the trust that my parents and Mount Saint Vincent Academy have placed in me; true to the graces God has lavished on me.

Our Souvenirs

Certain days of the year stand out in our memory. We call them "red letter days" because they have a significance unlike any others. The close of the Marian Year was one, the visits of the Apostolic Delegate and of our Archbishop were others, while the feast of our Mistress General remains always a pleasant recollection.

The visit of the Apostolic Delegate, Most Reverend Giovanni Panico was a great honor for Mount Saint Vincent. We remember him with pleasure and with gratitude for his generous gift of two holidays.

Mistress General's Feast Day

February eleventh was a lovely day of joy and feasting in honor of our Mistress General, Sister Miriam Vincent. We honored Sister with our prayers and greetings and enjoyed the day's events right down to the eating of the feast day cake.

MILESTONES
vs. MILLSTONES

Daily decisions are either milestones or millstones. Often there will seem to be as little difference in the choice as in the words; a single little loop.

But it is not so simple as it seems. For example, when the decision involves building a home you can choose the sound investment of good construction and pass another milestone to success. Or you can settle for a jerry built job and carry another backbreaking millstone.
