Mount Saint Vincent University

The Roman God of beginnings, openings, entrances, doorways; of public gates through which roads passed and of private doors. Being God of the Gates, he was naturally God of departures, returns and by the extension the God all means of communication.

We look to his insignia as our key to the future, through the door of graduation, yet always reminiscent of our years at Mount Saint Vincent University.

President and Vice-Chancellor

Dr. E. Margaret Fulton

President's Message

To the Graduating Class of 1982:

Each year at Mount Saint Vincent University, the graduation ceremonies see an ever wider segment of our human society completing degrees. While the Mount remains firm in its commitment to the special educational needs of women, and while the majority of our graduates remain women between the age groups of 20-25, a growing number of traditional male students, many married couples and many mature persons are completing degrees at Mount Saint Vincent University.

The Graduating Class is representative of a varied group of students. My congratulations are extended to each one of you. The uniqueness of each graduate gives evidence of the uniqueness of the Mount as an institution of higher education not only in Nova Scotia but also in Canada.

The reason the Mount attracts such a wide variety of students is partly because of its tradition and history and partly because of the wide variety of academic programs. At Convocation in May, 1981, twenty-four students graduated with a Bachelor of Public Relations degree. This was the first class to graduate in Public Relations and Mount Saint Vincent University is the only English-speaking university in Canada offering such a program.

Because the University continues to place emphasis on the development of the "whole" person, more students are attracted to the Mount. University education must always be more than the accumulation of knowledge. It is my hope, then, that your years at the Mount taught you the importance of integrating the activities of the mind with the need for health and physical fitness, and that both of these aspects are encompassed by an awareness of the human spirit. For Spirit, as Karl Jaspers reminds us, is "the totality of intelligible thoughts, action and feeling." The process of fusing and restructuring all totality in a present which is never finished yet always fulfilled is the real function of education.

If, as you graduate from Mount Saint Vincent University, you have brought your academic studies into real coherence and clarity through connections with the rest of your experience, you will have begun a lifestyle that will serve you well in years ahead.

My heartiest congratulations and good wishes to all.

Student Union President's Message

Karen K. Stone

Fellow Graduates (Class of '82)

By the time you will be receiving this yearbook and perhaps have a chance to read this message, you will probably already be established in some form of employment or perhaps continuing your education. All of those things that seemed of great importance during your senior year will be just little items on the long list of memories that you have accumulated during your university years.

Between September '81 and May '82 we as graduates were burdened with decisions ranging from where to get your grad photos taken to what to do after graduation. Somehow all those things were taken care of and time went on. Grad week was the last chance we had to do all the things we wanted to do while still a student, but never had the time before.

Graduation day is the climax of all these years of hard work and study. For some of us it means the time has finally come when we have to go out and work for a living. No longer do we have the security of quitting that ... summer job and going back to classes in September.

Graduation day is filled with many emotions. Family, friends, and faculty beam with pride as they watch the graduates file down on stage to receive their degree or diploma. We have mixed feelings of happiness that we finally "made it", of fear and anxiety as we approach the world of the unknown.

MSVU students have the opportunity to form friendships with other students that are from countries all over the world. We all experience a great sadness when we go our separate ways. We can only be thankful that we have had the opportunity to get to know one another, if even for a short time. We realize some of these countries no longer seem foreign.

We the council of 81-82, have tried to make your senior year even more memorable. You are the judge as to how successful we were. In making your judgement please keep in mind the amount we obtain from something is proportionate to the amount we put into it. This is true for anything we do in life.

I too, am a member of the graduating class of '82. I have also experienced many of the feelings and worries most graduates have. It has been a difficult task trying to find something to write that will hold some meaning for each and every one of you. I hope I have been successful to some degree.

The years that we have just completed at Mount Saint Vincent University have provided us with a foundation upon which we may build. I hope that you have enjoyed your years at MSVU as much as I have.

Best of luck to all of you!

Yours sincerely,

Karen K. Stone.

P.S. If when you receive this book you are a long way from family and friends consider these thoughts:

"Nothing is a waste of that makes a memory."

Dedication

HERE'S TO YOU
M.S.V.U.

Once upon a time, not so long ago, Mount Saint Vincent University graduated the class of 1982. These new graduates came in all shapes, sizes and hood colors. They did have some things in common though besides the black graduation gowns. These students had been a part of a community known as Mount Saint Vincent University. These individuals would share many memories of the place some called home because they had attended classes here for as many as four or five years, or for as little as one year.

Fortunately for the University, most of these people did not just attend classes, but they made contributions to university life. From sitting in the Sacateria talking over coffee, to cramming in the library, to playing sports, to being involved in student organizations. Even the most uncoordinated athlete and best student leader worked together to make MSVU a better place to be.

All of these people had different opinions as to whom they should dedicate their yearbook. Each graduate, if asked, would have a name of some individual who was deserving of such an honour as a yearbook dedication.

At Mount Saint Vincent University, we are fortunate enough to have many outstanding individuals, students, staff, faculty, and administration alike to which we could dedicate this yearbook; however, we decided to do the only just thing. The class of 1982 proudly dedicates this yearbook to the Mount Saint Vincent University community. So ...

Here's to you MSVU

THROUGH THE YEARS

Mount Saint Vincent Motherhouse.

Fire completely destroyed this Mount building on a historic night in January 1951.

The new Evaristus after the fire.

In 1873, the Sisters of Charity established Mount Saint Vincent University, providing elementary and secondary schooling.

By 1914, the need for post-secondary education was becoming increasingly evident; a 25 year agreement with Dalhousie University was signed. This allowed the Mount to give the first two years bachelor programs, the final two years and degree to be given by Dalhousie.

In 1925, Mount Saint Vincent College was awarded the right to grant its own degrees in the arts, science and music.

The entire plant of Mount Saint Vincent Motherhouse and College was laid waste by fire in January 1951. By September of the same year, the new college building, Evaristus Hall, was ready to receive students.

Mount Saint Vincent College.

The Mount continues to grow.

The Mount continued to grow. In 1966, two new buildings were added to the campus: a 12 storey residence, Assisi Hall, and student centre, Rosaria Hall. Through a revision of the college charter, the College became Mount Saint Vincent University.

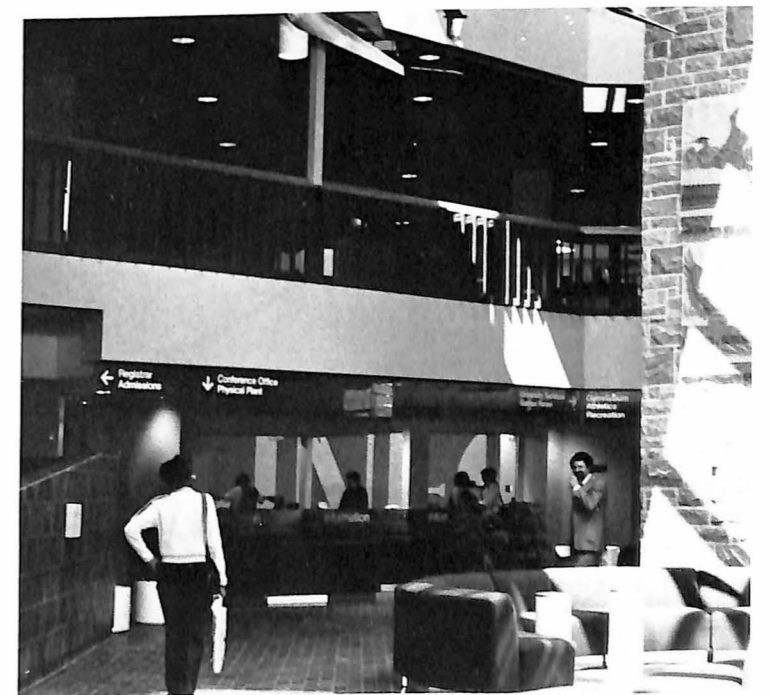

In 1971, a new building, Seton Academic Centre, provided classrooms, faculty offices, a first-rate Art Gallery, and a theatre in the round to seat 1000. MSVU entered into a new five-year agreement with Dalhousie on an association-as-quals basis.

The Birches, five new townhouse residences, were built in 1972.

Rosaria Centre was officially opened on March 14, 1981.

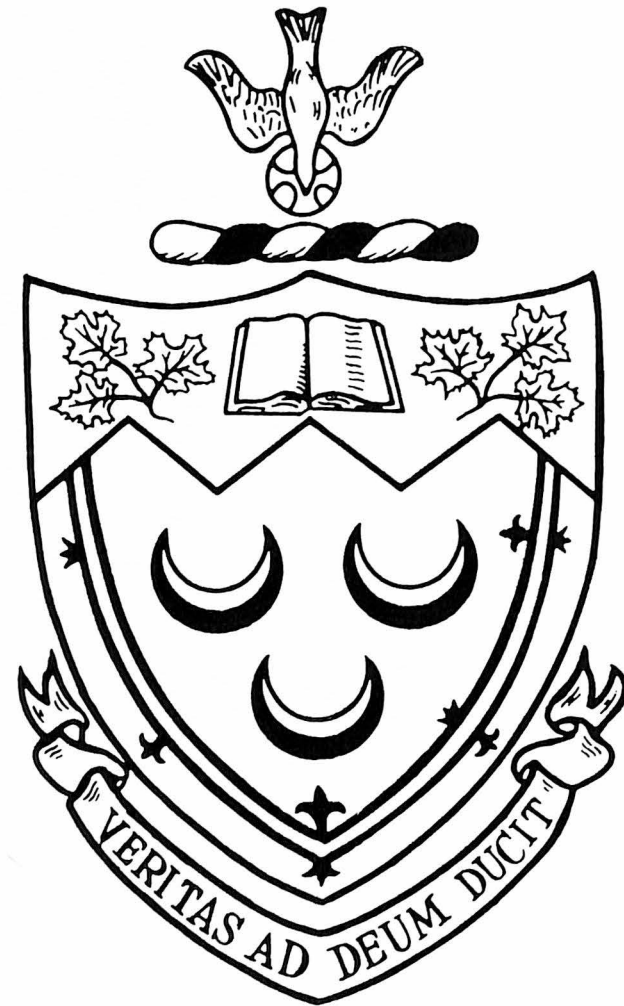

Birches 1972.

Coat of Arms Insignia

The University motto is "Veritus ad deum ducit" which is translated as "truth leads to God." The motto asserts the religious concerns which inspired the foundation of the University.

Based on the coat of arms of Venerable Elizabeth Seton, Foundress of the Congregation of the Sisters of Charity, the University seal bears three crescents within a "tressure". The same "tressure" is found on the coat of arms granted to Nova Scotia in 1625 so that the Community Foundress and the Province of Nova Scotia are represented. The book, symbol of learning, stands between two maple leaves, emblem of Canada. Above the book stands a dove, symbolizing the Holy Spirit, indicating that Knowledge is only a means to Wisdom, the highest gift of God.

The colors of the shield are blue and gold-gold symbolizing the divinity of our Lord and blue for our Blessed Lady. The periphery of the coat of arms is royal blue and azure, the dual blues of Mount Saint Vincent University.

University Logo

In January 1971, the Board of Governors approved the design of a new symbol for Mount Saint Vincent University that would replace the Heraldic Crest previously used to represent the University.

The design was the culmination of five months work by Eagles and Radcliffe Ltd., of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. The symbol skillfully combines the letters "M" and "V" and "U" to provide a distinctive pattern that is visually appealing and easily remembered. The addition of two circles above this pattern immediately adds warmth and the awareness that the symbol portrays people as well.

This, it was felt, was the essence of a university; young people, alert people who are working together towards common objectives.

Vinnie's Pub

Grand Opening

A pub on Mount Saint Vincent University campus often seemed more of a dream than a reality. A double decker held in honour of the grand opening saw Razor Boy playing in the Multipurpose Room and the Berri Hill band on stage in the Pub. Christened VINNIE'S PUB with a ribbon cutting the ceremony. A 26" color TV, $100 worth of games, and an initial $200 worth of albums were unveiled that evening.

Already used during Orientation, Vinnie's Pub had become a regular spot for some students. Vinnie's represented many things other than the more obvious. It represented several long hours of hard work during the Summer of '82 by Karen Stone and Sue Drapeau. The Administration supplied the initial funding while the task of spending a sum of $20,000 had to be carefully planned by these two individuals. It was not as easy as it may appear. Priorities had to be set, cost estimates had to be made and deadlines had to be set in order to have Rosaria Lounge remodeled before September when the students arrived. The final product which everyone had the opportunity to visit during the year was there to stay for sometime to come. It had proven it could be financially stable during the course of the year. Vinnie's Pub represented not only a greatly needed addition to the social life of MSVU but it also represented a spirit of co-operation between the students and administration that was to set the tone for the year to come. Here's to you Vinnie's Pub!

On April 1, 1981, the Council of 81/82 took office, all six elected and two appointed members. The new Council faced student unrest, severed relations with Administration and a deficit in excess of $15,000. Despite these problems, the new Council had several things going their way. The elections had produced the highest voter turnout ever, 48% of the full-time student body voted and a referendum to raise Student Union fees from $44.50 to $65.00 had passed.

An inexperienced but enthusiastic group of people took on this challenge. So what did they do during their 13 month term of office? (Council changed term of office from April 1 to March 31 to make the transitions between councils easier.)

Here are some of the highlights and/or accomplishments from 81/82. During the summer months, the budget was set. The aim was to erase as much of the deficit as possible and still offer sufficient services. Orientation was planned in conjunction with Student Services. The pub was proposed, planned, and all renovations to Rosaria Lounge were completed by the time students arrived on campus in September. Vinnie's Pub, a welcome addition, was a co-operative effort between the Student Union and Administration.

The 81/82 edition of the Student Union Handbook was on "news stands" when the students arrived; however, due to computer problems, the directory was a little late coming out, and due to other problems as you know by now the yearbook was somewhat late. To quote an old cliché, "Better late than never."

Also during the summer, meetings were held with the Presidents of the Student Unions in the Halifax area. These meetings, initiated by M.S.V.U., resulted in an open door policy among the institutions. A valid university I.D. will admit you to any university function in Halifax. The M.S.V.U. Council members also achieved the dissolution of the financial side of the Dal-Mount Agreement, retaining the good relationship between councils.

September was the grand opening of Vinnie's Pub and the anti-cutbacks march-over 500 M.S.V.U. students participated in the march. A good showing indeed. The Fall elections were held in October. Voter turnout was not great but now we were operating with almost a full slate of Councillors.

Karen Stone, President, and Alice MacKichan, Executive Vice-President, attended the Canadian Federation of Students (CFS) Conference in Ottawa in October. The extent of our participation in this organization was a topic of discussion for most of the year.

The entertainment was mostly kept to one large function a month and a weekly Wednesday night pub at Vinnie's. While many thought $1.50 door charge outrageous it contributed to the cost of a DJ and increased the record collection. As a result of carefully monitored entertainment functions, no losses were incurred. Open forums were held every two months but the attendance was always low.

The Spring term highlights, over and above the regular activities and events included the M.S.V.U. Student Union hosting its 1st Annual Leadership Conference with over 80 participants from universities around the province; a successful constitution referendum, which provided the first official one since incorporation in 1971; elections for Council of 82/83 which filled more positions than had been filled the year before; and the Project One referendum which passed in favor of full-time students contributing $10/year until a $300,000 commitment was fulfilled.

An active year which 81/82 councillors will remember for some time to come. Its success is hard to determine; however, in terms of dollars, in April we were $15,000 plus in the red and at the end of the year we were $20,000 plus in the black. If nothing else was accomplished, financial stability was achieved for the M.S.V.U. Student Union.

Soccer

This year the MSVU Women's Soccer Team came very close to reaching the conference finals. They were defeated in the semi-finals, in overtime, by the Nova Scotia Teachers College. The team played well all year and had a successful season. Rachel Bachman and Debbie Dagenais were named co-winners of the team's MVP Award.

Basketball

The MSVU Women's Basketball Team placed second in the conference this year. They were the only team in the conference to defeat the College of Cape Breton during the regular season but due to injuries to key personnel, they lost the conference final to CCB by a score of 68-55. The MVP for the team was Debbie Ashley, while the MIP was Cheryl McCarron. Ashley was also named to the All-Canadian Team for the CCAA.

Volleyball

The Women's Volleyball Team defeated King's in the conference final this year and earned the right to attend the nationals in Calgary. The team played well at the nationals but lost the bronze medal match to Manitoba. They were easily the most successful team in the school this past year. The MVP for the team was Nanette Elsinga while the MIP was Jacquie Melanson. Elsinga was also named to the All-Canadian Team for the CCAA.

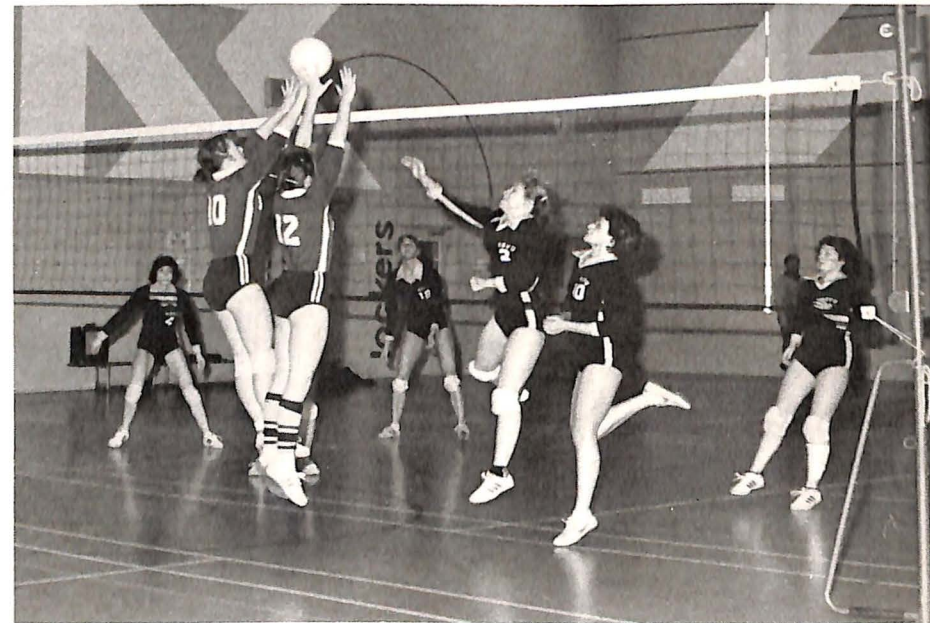

Look out Calgary! Here we come.

Badminton

The Mount Saint Vincent Badminton Team had a very successful season this year. They were competitive in all the tournaments which they entered and placed in three out of four events in the final tournament in Truro. Linda Reardon and Gary Tang were named co-MVP's for the team and it was coached by Pat Demont. Next year looks very promising for badminton at MSVU.

Hockey

The Mount Saint Vincent University Men's Hockey Team completed their second season this year. The Team managed to gain only one tie during the year and did not compete in the Provincial Championships. A strong nucleus of players will be returning next year however, and it is hoped that there will continue to be a hockey team at the Mount.

Well, our university years are over, for most of us. Let us not think of it as an end, but a beginning of many new experiences and the rest of the world to explore. The various friendships made in the past 2-3-4 years can be held onto forever, with this book being a momentum of the things that have happened in the past year/s.

Grad week was a major event in our year. Coming into office late in the year meant that things had to be decided quickly. Several meetings were held and a few fundraising events took place. To those of you who attended meetings and functions, along with those who were there in heart (keeners), thanks for the help.

As the weeks went by, ever so quickly, and final exams were over, the final moment came to see if your name made the list. When the name was found, the party began. It is hoped that each person will remember some part of grad week. Whether it be the cruise, brewery tour, the Grad Ball with Mason Chapman, Champagne breakfast, or convocation. To those who did not attend anything, too bad, you don't know what you've missed.

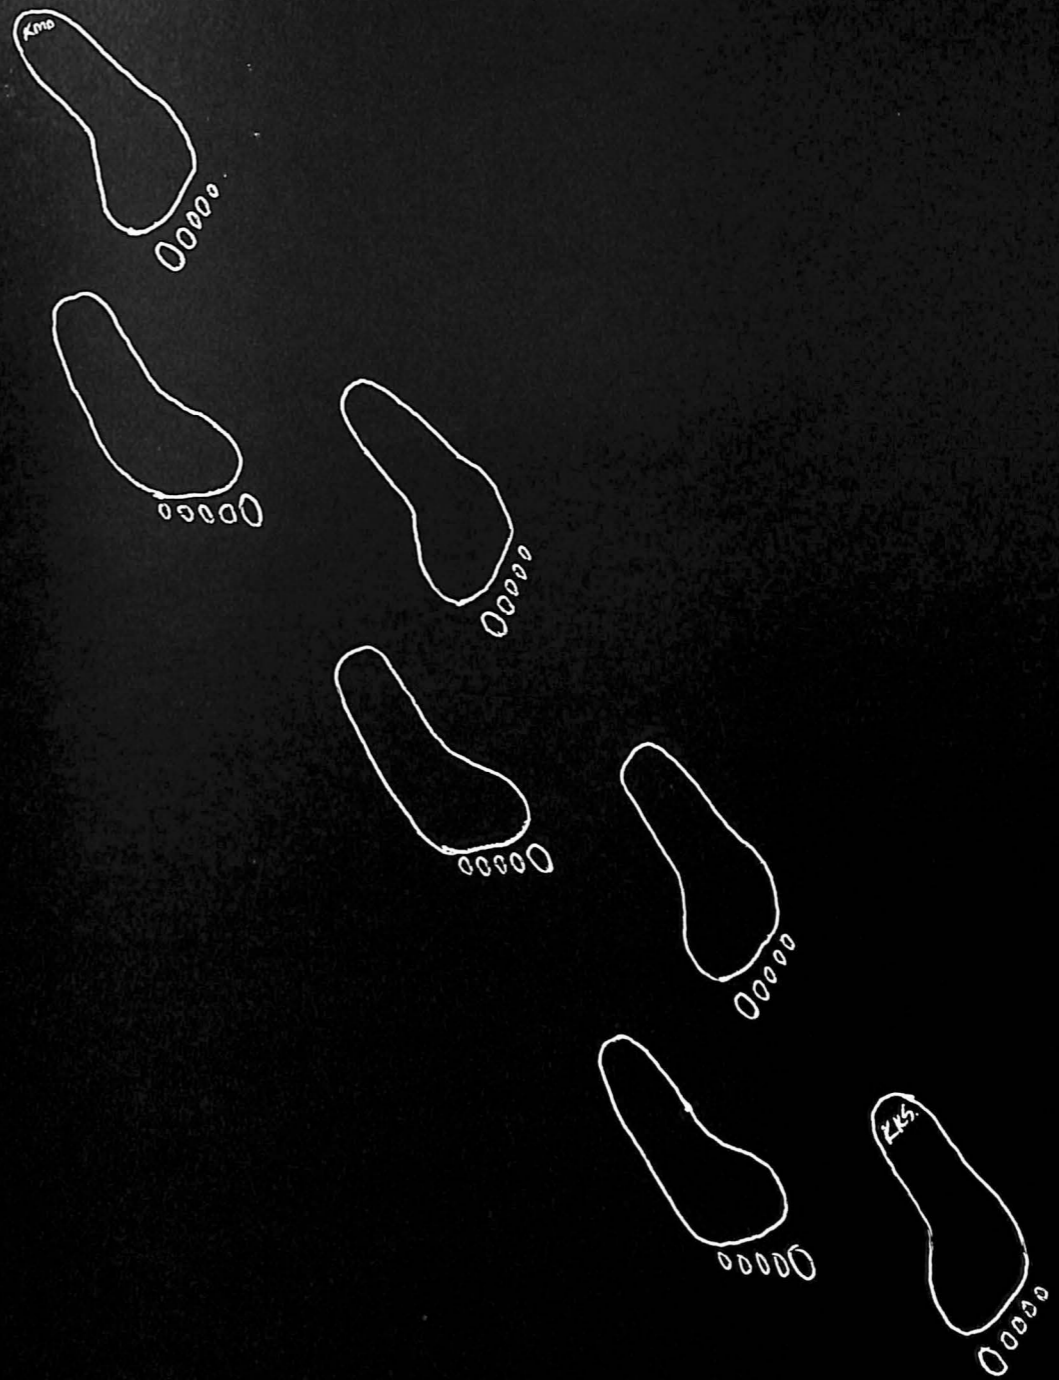

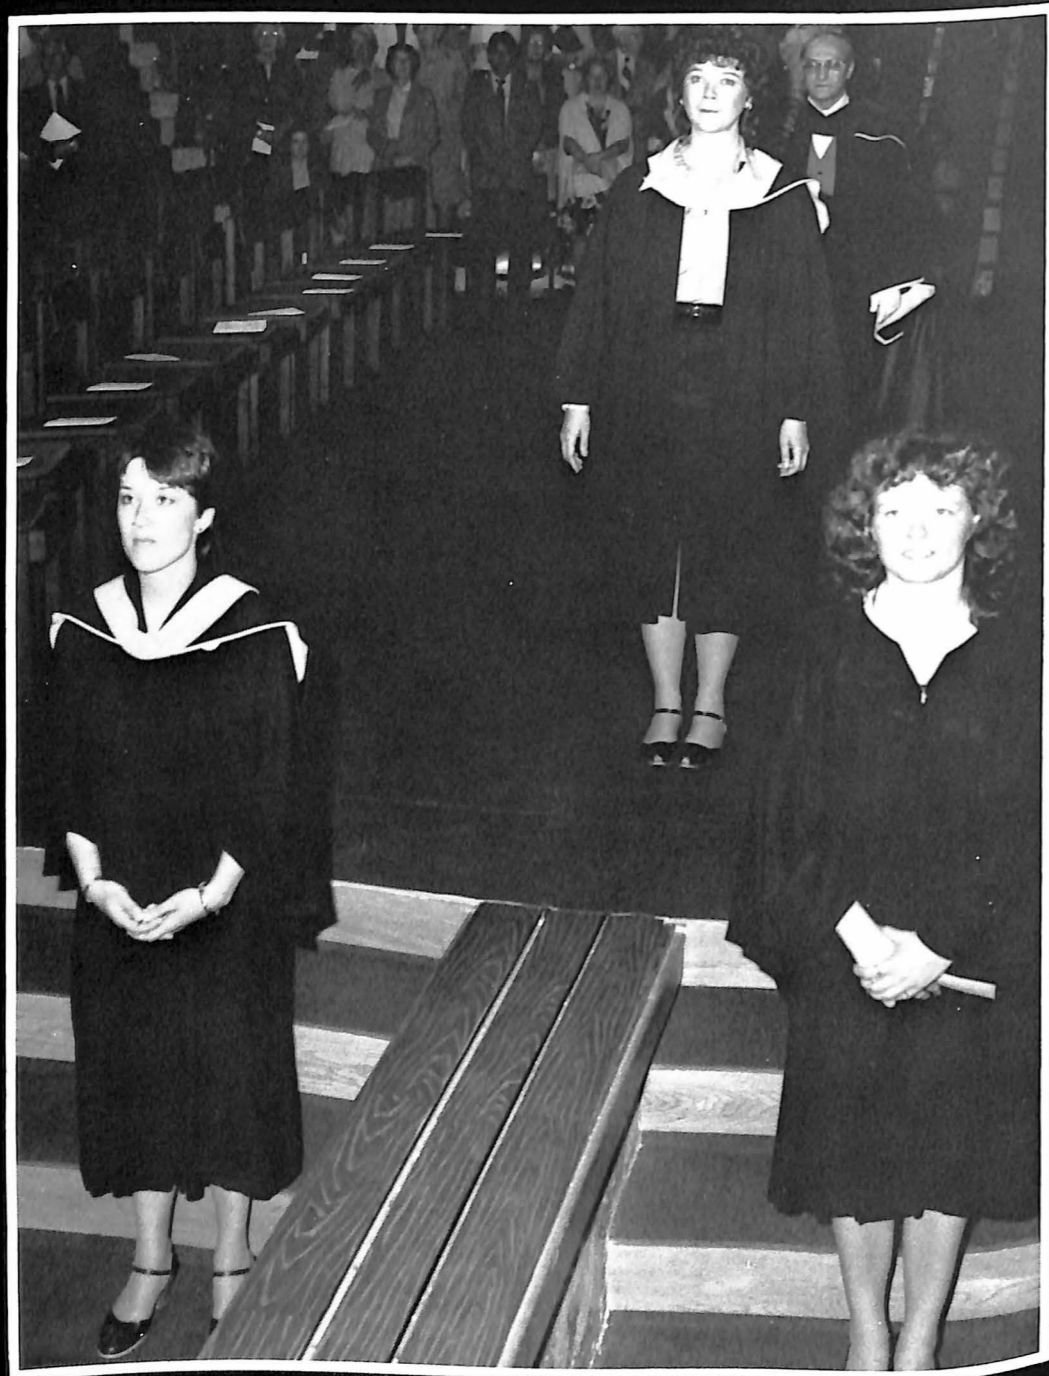

Good luck to everyone. Whatever you do, do it well and be happy doing it. Remember: 'You've only got one life to live, but if you live it right, once is enough.'

Valedictory Morning Convocation

Kelly Ryan BA

Hi. Now that we're finished with the formalities and we've got our degrees in our hands, let's talk for a minute. Let's talk about the sense of unity, of community that maybe we never felt before at the Mount. Sitting here, in the same place where we wrote our final exams, where the girl behind us drove us crazy because her pen scratched with every word, there is now a certain spirit, a certain wholistic conception of the individuals here. The reason for that unity is that we all have one incredible thing in common -- we have all achieved our goals, fulfilled our purpose for coming to university. Each of us came to MSVU to learn, and to earn a degree or certificate in a special area. And we've done it!

Dr. Leo Buscaglia is a professor of Education at the University of Southern California. I was first exposed to his teachings during my first year here, but since then have had the good fortune to read a book he wrote called simply LOVE. I would like to share with you a thought that Buscaglia expresses in this book and by which I feel we should live. Our main function in living is to unfold our true selves and on that same plateau, we must help others to become strong and to perfect themselves as unique individuals. We must realize however, that our true selves will not be loved by all persons. This is the ideal. We may be one of the world's finest plums, but we must remember that there will be people who want bananas. In such situations, we have the choice to change and become bananas. However, be warned! If we make this choice, we will only be second rate bananas - but, we can always be the best plums.

We are today and forever, first rate individuals. We are each of us the best me in the entire world. But, inevitably, there will be people who will want us to be different from what we are; who will look for other qualities in us. We can try and change and meet their inappropriate expectations. But, in doing so, we will be failures.

On the other hand, we can face these situations and realize that even with our minor imperfections we are the best people we can be. No one else can ever replace us in this role or take the honor away. It is through doing all that we can by our own individual efforts that we will indeed reach our fullest potentials. This choice is our's to make: Remember: do not try to be something we are not; rather let us strive to be all that we can be and in doing so reveal our true selves.

We stand today on the brink of our futures; on the edge of Society's future. We are challenged to fulfill the needs of Society, to determine where our qualifications and abilities are most required, and in doing so we are challenged to meet these needs to the best of our abilities. Moreover, because our world is so wrangled by warfare we are challenged to bring peace and love to replace the wars and hatred. We are no longer children. We can no longer place the onus on others to keep our world free from hatred. That responsibility is now ours.

As the famous quote of William Allen White reads:

I am not afraid of tomorrow,
for I have seen yesterday,
and I love today.

We need not be afraid of the future. We have the abilities and the training to become invaluable members of Society. Our dedication to use these elements faithfully to their fullest extent is all that Society asks. Not too big an order if we continually attempt to maintain the standards set for us here at Mount Saint Vincent.

Before I close, I would like to offer on behalf of all graduates of today our thanks to you who have helped us become the first-rate people we are:

: to our parents, our husbands, our wives, our sweethearts, our families and friends who have stood by us during our years of study and who have been patient during any short period of irritabilities we give our deepest love and thanks.

: to our professors and work supervisors who have helped polish us so that we can face the future as shining plums we give our gratitude and appreciation.

: to each other, to the friends whom we first met at Mount Saint Vincent and whom we will never, ever forget, we give the joys we share in fond memories and achievements.

*: especially to our Mothers, our first teachers, whom we also honor today.

In closing, let us fear not the future. Rather let us look to it with the serenity to accept the things in life that we cannot change, with the courage to change the things we can, and with the wisdom necessary to know the difference. If we live our lives based on these premises, in conjunction with our own individualized sustained efforts, we will indeed provide the world with some of its finest plums!

Thank you.

Valedictory Afternoon Convocation

Gina Walzak BCS

Most Reverend Chancellor, Madam President, Representative of the Government, Distinguished Guests, Parents, Friends, Fellow Graduates ...

Four years ago when I first registered at Mount Saint Vincent University, I received a letter from the student who had been assigned to serve as my "Big Sister" during my years here. In that letter, she wrote: "Gina, dream of 1982 which will be your graduating year." Today, I realize this dream. Along with my fellow classmates, we share the very privileged position of being graduates of Mount Saint Vincent University.

During our years at the Mount, one theme has been paramount. How often we were told to use our abilities to their fullest so that we could achieve our potentials. In order to do this, we must recognize that we are unique individuals with varying talents and gifts. This is what makes us special; not the fact that we belong to a privileged group, but rather that we are unique members of that group. We tell the children that we teach to be individuals, to be unafraid to be different, to stand up for what they believe in; we in turn must believe in ourselves, be unafraid and forthright in our opinions and judgements.

We are the graduating class of 1982. US! Congratulations to all of us. There are students in this auditorium with whom we have struck firm friendships -- some of which may last a lifetime, all of which were a blessing in these years which truly were the best and the worst of times.

And though there were hard times for each of us as we pulled all-nighters to get one more paper done, Mount Saint Vincent has experienced success after success of which you may not be aware. In the sports area our volleyball team won the Nova Scotia College Conference and was sent to the National Championships. Our academic departments have shown great initiative as new societies seem to be springing up in every corner and conferences have been created and/or hosted by the education, biology, home ec., and English departments. And this year we saw the first graduate from the English Department's new honors program. The honors programs which were previously run in affiliation with Dal are now completely under the auspices of the Mount in Biology and English. And in the performing arts field, GODSPELL revealed the vast amount of talent at the Mount. As a new member of the alumnae, I hope to see an attitude within Mount Saint Vincent that continues to be progressive. There are some issues which, for the four years I have been here, have been discussed and then have magically vanished from the view of the student body -- the 'men in residence' issue, for example, and the question of how much of the council fee should go towards the new building. These, and others like them, are issues which students should be concerned about and should work towards a solution in keeping with the Mount's progressive image.

Well, we've talked about the class of '82 and we've talked about the university that brought us all together, now let's talk about each of us as individuals. I don't know how many of you saw "Chariots of Fire", but I'm sure you've heard much about it. At one point in the film Eric Liddel, the Olympic running champion, compares faith to running a race. As individuals, there are two things which are important to have faith in. One is yourself, the other -- the God who created you. Liddel says "He made me fast, and when I run I feel His pleasure." In the same way He made you good in P.R., and you good in chemistry. He gave you a talent for writing and you skills in the home ec. field. Rejoice in that gift and have faith in it; you have developed it within the university, have confidence that you will be able to use it when you leave here. The national unemployment rate is somewhere around 9%; that means 30 of us, according to statistics, will not get jobs. And I know this isn't the first time you've heard this; there are all kinds of 'do-gooders' who want to make you aware of the REAL world which exists outside of this ivory tower you've been 'hiding' in for the last two, three or even four years. "Oh, you've got a general B.A. do you? An just what do you expect to do with that?" is a comment many of us here have heard recently. Well, first of all, you can thank God you've taken an opportunity to expand your mind and develop the incredible amount of discipline it takes to complete the requirements for any degree. And have faith that you can walk out there and prove to that 'real world' that you can use what you've learned here. Every one of us has a special gift that we and our Creator takes pleasure in whether it be writing critical articles or being a medical secretary -- get out there and use that gift, because, as the GODSPELL cast so aptly sang, "if that light is under a bushel, you've lost something kind of crucial. You've got to be bright" -- and you are: intellectually, for you've made it through, and emotionally as you withstood pressure after pressure. You've got to have the light of the vision of what you were made for shining before you to take you to the finish. Your academic career is only one segment of the race and you've all won. Go on, finish the race with flying colors, and remember this day not as the end, but the beginning of showing that 'real world' who you are.

Thank you!

Farewell to Nova Scotia

Farewell to Nova Scotia the sea-bound coast,
 Let your mountains dark and dreary be
 For when I am far away on the briny ocean tossed
 Will you ever heave a sigh and a wish for me.

The sun was setting in the west,
 The birds were singing on every tree,
 All nature seemed inclined for rest
 But still there was no rest for me.

The drums they do beat and the wars do alarm,
 The captain calls, we must obey,
 So farewell, farewell to Nova Scotia's charms,
 For it's early in the morning, I am far, far away.

I grieve to leave my native land,
 I grieve to leave my comrades all,
 And my aged parents whom I always held dear.
 And the bonny, bonny lass that I do adore.

I have three brothers and they are at rest,
 Their arms are folded on their breast,
 But a poor sailor, just like me,
 Must be tossed and driven on the dark blue sea.

A time for cheery introductions and teary good-byes.

Just one more pin.

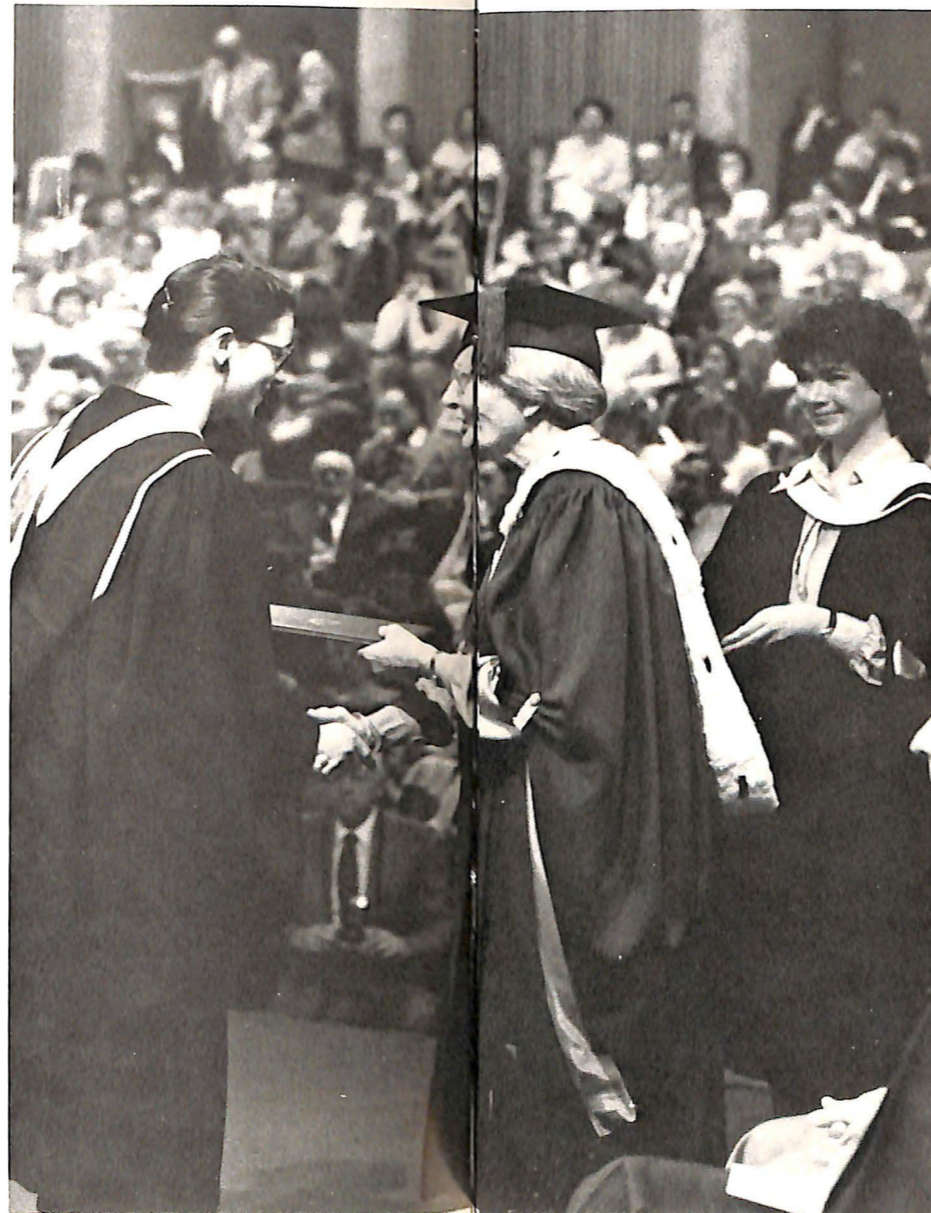

Hand in your papers.

I mean ... Cards.

We're on our way.

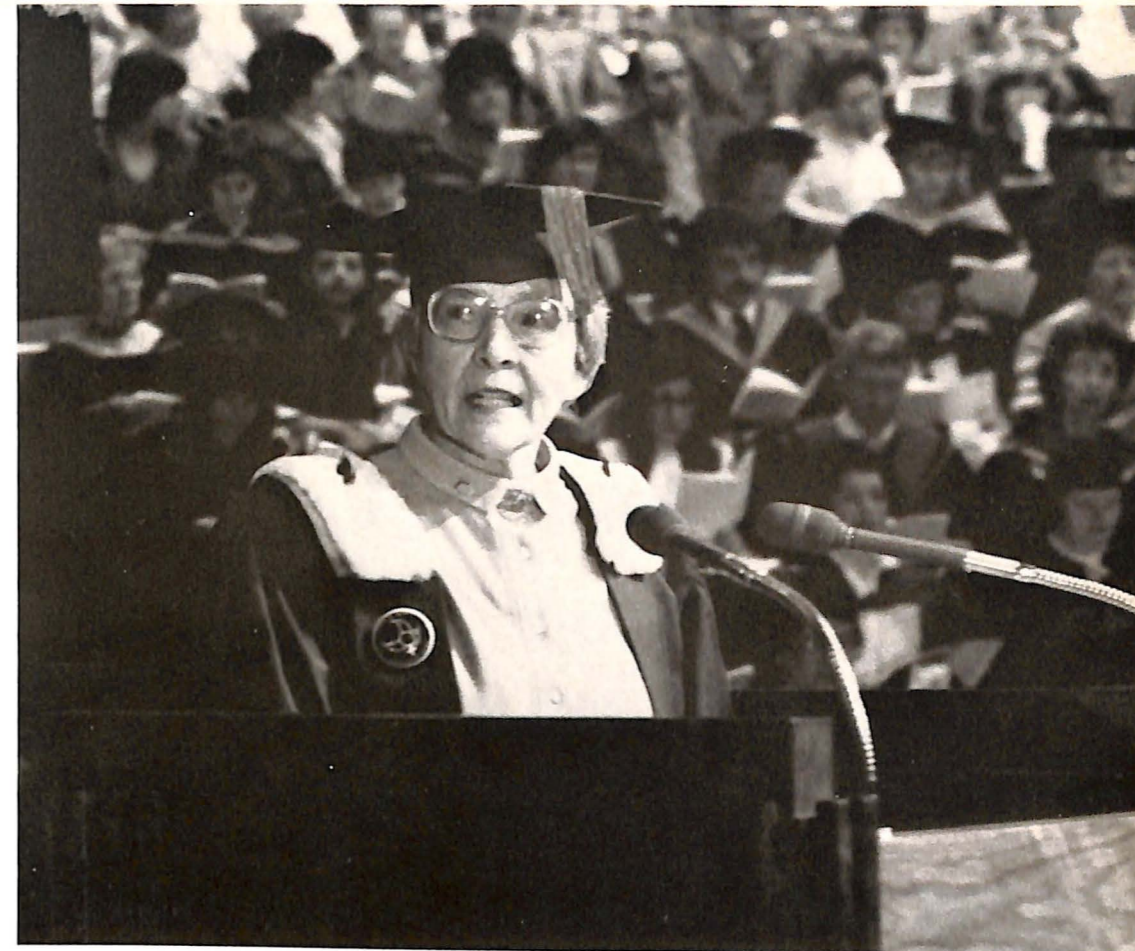

18, 19, 20, I guess that is enough credits to graduate.

We made it!

Happy Mothers Day, Mothers! Congratulations Graduates!

Hey, watch the pin.

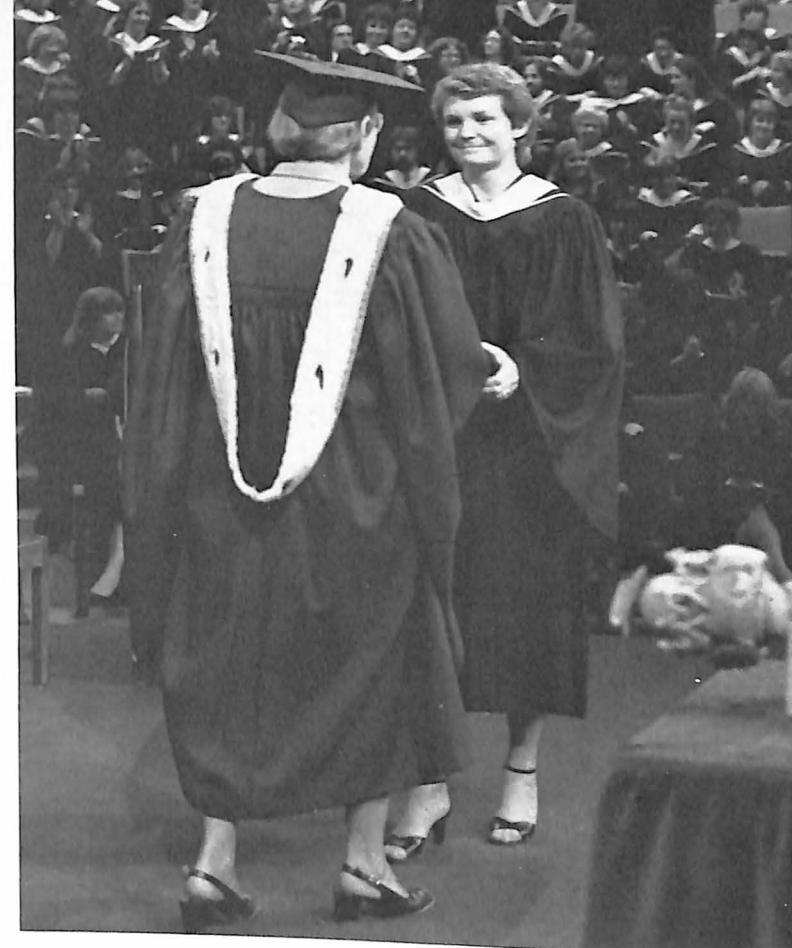

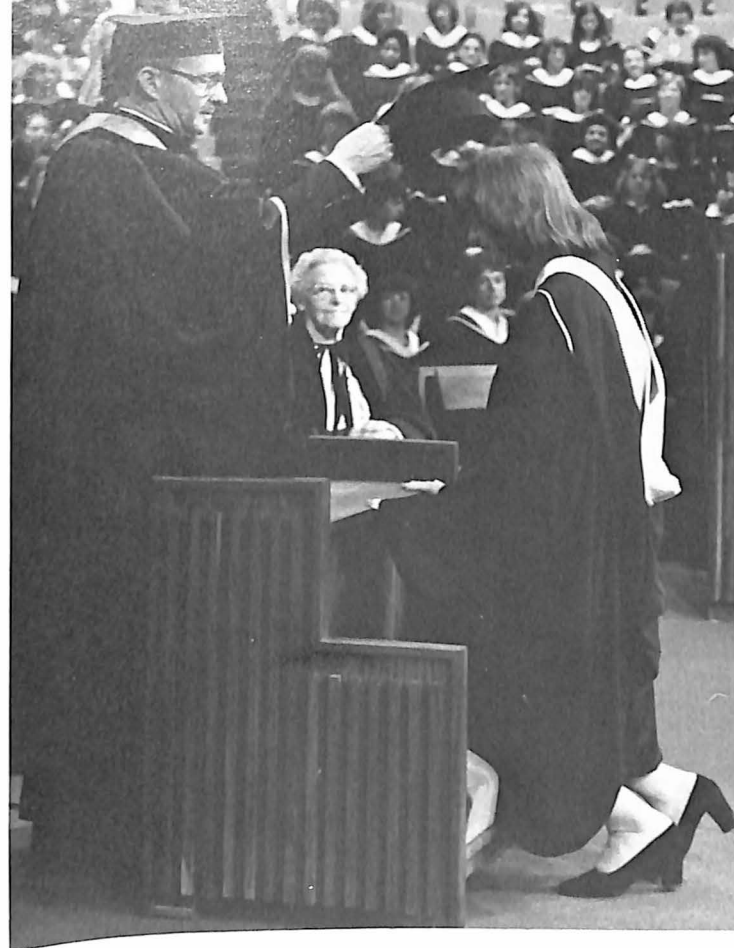

What do you mean, 6 and 5 for next year?

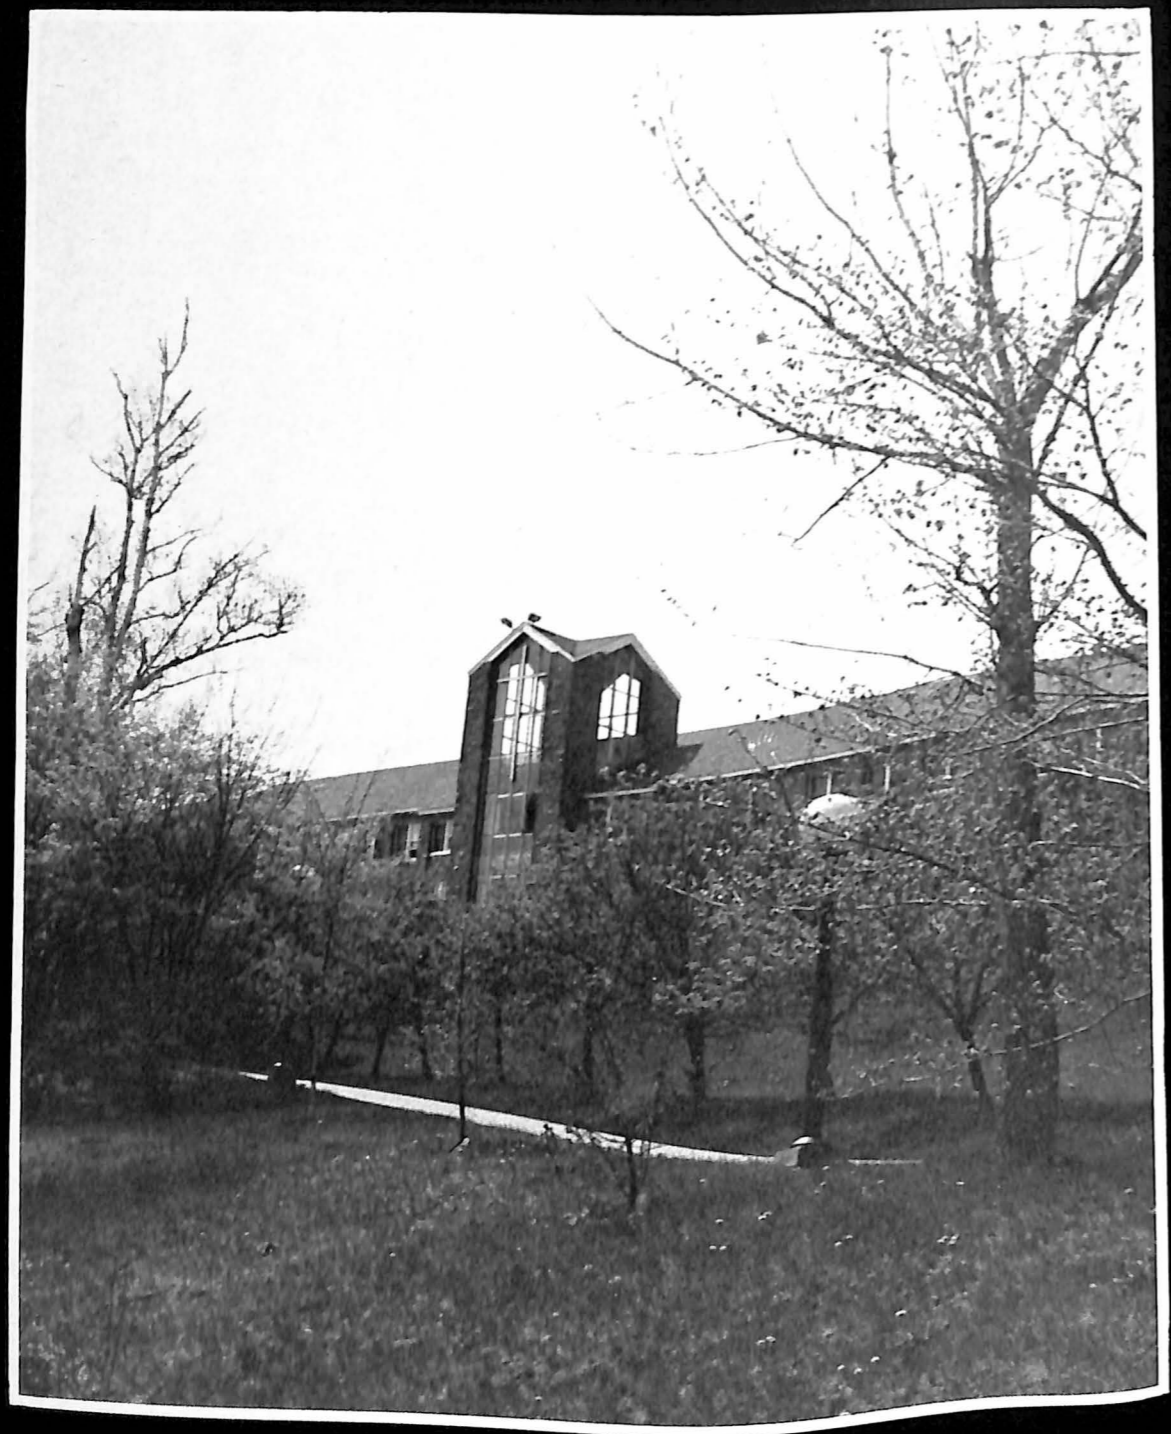

All aboard!

Did anyone bring Gravel?

You're on your way
to three
"Going-Out" Ideas
All in one Great Old Building!

The Keg

Real value for your good times comes in charcoal broiled steaks, seafood and a big crunchy salad bar in an atmosphere that says relax!

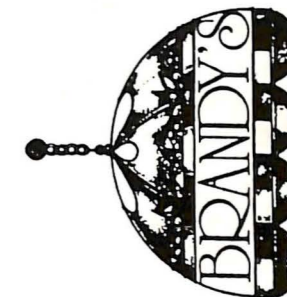

Open 7 days a week from 5:00 p.m.
425-8355

The Old Spaghetti Factory

More than just spaghetti! It's nostalgia, fine food, memorabilia and good times all rolled into one. Home of the amazing $2.50 lunch!

Open for lunch from 11:30 a.m.
Open for dinner from 5:00 p.m.
425-5303

Brandy's

Dazzling decor, music, dancing, laughter, lunch unhurried in a relaxing atmosphere — then come back for the night time fun. Brandy's is very special!

Open Monday to Saturday from 11:30 a.m.
425-8357
