HITTING NEW HEIGHTS

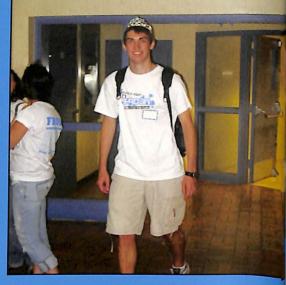

t MSVU, we strive on being the best we can be. Over the past year, we have reached new heights; no the hill is not any bigger, but rather our campus and its students have raised the bar in Student Life. With new upgrades, a mascot and three Provincial Championship titles for our soccer and basketball teams this year, we are proving to be heading no where but up! The theme "Hitting New Heights" reflects the ongoing development of MSVU, and the growth within the Mount community.

Breast Cancer Awareness Week

hinerama is MSVU's annual frosh week fundraiser to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis Research. Shinerama is Canada's largest fundraiser at the post-secondties and colleges across Canada. MSVU has participated in this event shoe-shining campaign, it has now MSVU raised over $14,000, and we will continue to contribute. This year's campaign included numerous summer events, as well as events taking place during U-Stock. We raffled off autographed merchandise donated by the featured bands and MusicStop. MSVU also hosted a celebration concert after Shine Day, headlining "God Made Me Funky!" The MSVU Students' Union would and the mount community for their

Mount Cup

As of March 1st, 2007 the top five teams are: Birch 2, Assisi 7 & 8, Birch 4, Assisi 11 & 12, and Assisi 5 & 6. With challenges yet to come the Mount Cup is still up for grabs – it's anybody's game!

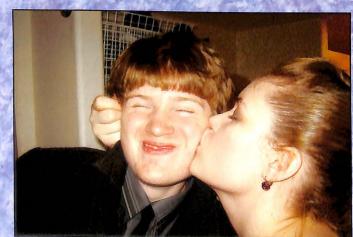

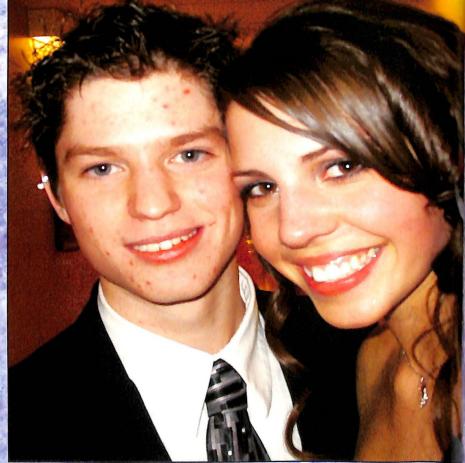

The Mount Cup Challenge is a point based contest between the residences of MSVU. Teams compete for point by attending various events on campus and competing in a variety of challenges. At the end of the competition, the top three scoring teams will partake in a headto-head, all day competition. At the end of the day, the team who has the most point overall will be awarded the cup for the year. The winning team receives custom T-shirts and a private party at Vinnie's.

Address to Graduates

Dear Graduates,

It is with great pride that I extend heartfelt congratulations to you, the Graduating class of 2007. The completion of your post secondary studies is indeed a memorable accomplishment and a significant juncture in your lives!

I would venture to say that you have learned much-both theoretical and practical, during your time at the Mount. I am confident your years here have been a journey of self discovery from which you have learned a great deal: understanding that hard work can lead to outstanding results; developing personal pride in accomplishments; experiencing the power of teamwork and collaboration; a sense of social responsibility and the knowledge that you can have a positive impact on your community; and learning how to overcome obstacles and challenges, to name but a few.

These meaningful experiences will support you as you move into the next phase of your life-long journey; they will become part of the outstanding qualities that distinguish you to future employers. Use what you have learned to make intelligent choices and take intelligent risks. Seize opportunities and never underestimate your power to influence and change.

You are the Mount's greatest ambassadors and our greatest legacy. Keep us in your heart and continue to support us in our endeavors to provide an outstanding university experience to our students. We will proudly watch and rejoice in your achievements as you become a member of a world wide family of 23,000 alumnae.

I wish you every possible success as you write the next chapter of your journey. May it be magnificently rich and rewarding as you endeavor to attain your goals and positively enhance the lives of those around you. I am reminded of the words of the 19th century American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson, "Do not go where the path may lead; go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

Congratulations and keep in touch!

SU President's Message to Graduates

Dear Graduates.

The time has finally come! As often as the cliché has been said, you are all at a pivotal stage of your lives and finally entering "the real world!"

As your student union president, I want to congratulate all of you on your successful and bittersweet graduation.

The long and winding road of school finally comes to an end for the most of you, as you prepare to enter the workforce and begin wonderful and successful lives. I hope that each of you remember your time at the Mount with pride, passion, and love for our wonderful community. It is with great pride that I again congratulate you all on a success that you should all be very proud of, you are MSVU Alumnae now, and it should feel good!

Again, Congratulations, and I hope you all blow with the winds of destiny!

A VERY SPECIAL "THANK YOU" GOES OUT TO EVERYONE WHO MADE THIS YEARBOOK POSSIBLE.

YEARBOOK COMMITTEE MESSAGE

This year has been an amazing experience at MSVU. So many events have taken place, services have expanded and many memories have been made. This yearbook is only the second edition that Mount Saint Vincent has seen in over ten years. The Mount is growing and changing around us, and we should all be proud to have been a part of it.

It was an extremely challenging but rewarding experience trying to capture everyone's memories at MSVU this year especially without the benefit of a full-time Yearbook Editor. That didn't stop us though, and with the help of a few key people, our yearbook committee was formed. I would sincerely like to thank everyone who was involved in submitting pictures, creating write-ups, holding events and taking photos. Without the help of these volunteers, there would be no yearbook. Also, a very special thank you goes out to: Ashley Pelley for sticking around after she had already graduated to help put this yearbook together, Amber Daley and Lloyd Nash for not giving up on the yearbook after all the frustration it caused, and Kenney Fitzpatrick for all the help (and pictures). We could not have done it without all of you.

All of us on the yearbook committee have worked extremely hard so that perhaps the memories of MSVU will come alive again when you pull this yearbook off the shelf, dust it off and look at it again years from now. We have tried to capture as many people, groups and events as possible and we'd like to apologize to those who are missing from this yearbook for whatever reason. Hopefully our hard work has paid off and this yearbook will help you to remember your friends at the Mount for many, many years to come.

Sincerely, Lisa Templin, Yearbook Committee Co-Chair

he Women's Basketball team finished the regular season with a 23-0 record and achieved their goal of winning the conference and won the 2006-07 ACAA women's basketball title. This was the 3rd title for the team in the past 5 seasons and certainly the most special. This season was the first time in MSVU history a women's basketball team went undefeated. At 23-0, the team headed to Edmonton to represent the conference at the CCAA National Championship. The team lost their first game to eventual Gold medalists Vanier and their second game to Okanogan (the British Columbia Champions) 84-83 in double overtime, before defeating the 6th ranked hosts, Grant he men's basketball team also made MSVU history by becoming the first men's basketball team to go 23-0 in ACAA action. This was the Mystics 9th conference title and certainly their most impressive. The team capped off a dominant regular season with impressive wins over UNBSJ in the semi finals and then a convincing 79-53 win over rival King's College in the championships game.

At the National Championships, the team continued with their winning ways by defeating the Alberta Champions Mount Royal College before falling to the top ranked Douglas College of B.C. in the National semi final.

Congratulations to Jason Carlson (CCAA second team all tournament), Damian Gay (first team all conference, ACAA MVP and All Canadian) Steve Morris (second team all conference) and Brendon Arnold (second team all conference and CCAA Academic All Canadian) and Rick Plato (ACAA Coach of the Year).

lthough the women's soccer did not repeat as conference champions, they did make it to the league finals with 12 first and second year players. Head Coach Jacques Boudreau is building a team that will be very competitive when MSVU hosts the 2007-08 CCAA National Championships.

This years team finished with 5 wins, 3 losses and 4 ties (4th position in the ACAA) and a renewed focus to recapture the ACAA championship.

his years' edition of the MSVU women'svolleyball team enjoyed a solid season. Although the team carried seven first year players, they were still extremely competitive and gained valuable experience that will help them for years to come.

The Mystics finished in third place in the ACAA with a 16-8 record and lost a hard fought match in the ACAA semi finals to eventual league champions Mount Allison. Head Coach Susanne Dittmer was proud of her team for their efforts and looks forward to next season.

Congratulations to the entire team on a great season and to Senior Allison Saunders (ACAA 1st Team All Conference and CCAA Academic All Canadian) and first year player Jasna Toprek (ACAA Rookie of the Year and 2nd Team All Conference).

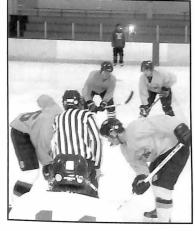

INTRAMURAL

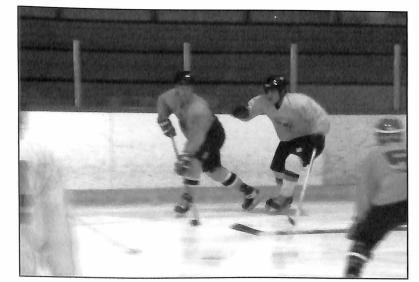

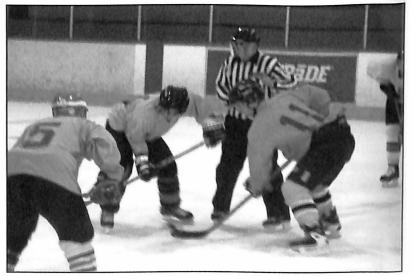

HOCKEY

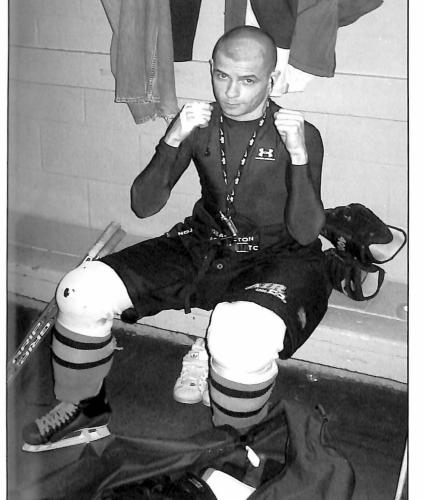

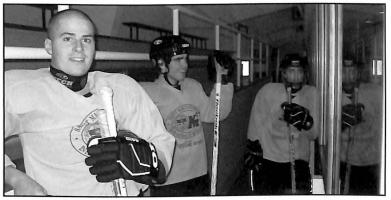

The Mount hockey team completed its fourth season in the Saint Mary's Intramural league making the playoffs for the fourth consecutive year. The team finished eighth place in a 12-team league, just barely ekimming into the playoffs. A first round match-up against the league's number one team proved to be the equad's last game in a disappointing loss. Everyone on the team contributed to its success and made the games enjoyable for all. The teamwas led by the solid offensive dexterity of Ryan Johnson and team captain Matt Haley, with both finishing top 10 scoring in the league. Plenty of memories accompany this season for the boys, particularly an "under-the-weather" 9-1 loss and a few buzzer-beater wins. The team hopes to continue its winning ways next season with a lot of returning faces. The boys are planning to hit the gym hard and often over the summer, in an attempt to get in shape for the next season. Best of luck next season guys, bring home the bragging rightel

Wish Day is an annual event organized by the MSVU Housing Team. This year, the event marked its fourth anniversary. Wish Day includes 16 hours of road hockey, a silent auction, hot and cold beverages, BBQ and spectacular live entertainment. This year, for the first time ever, Wish Day was rounded off by an exciting Casino Night!

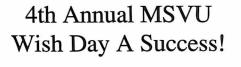

Students, staff and faculty joined forces with the MSVU Housing Team on March 16, 2007 from 8am to 12midnight to make this year's Wish Day a huge success!

Dedicated hockey players, volunteers, entertainers, head shavers and members of the Mount community embraced the chilly weather to help raise a grand total of over $5,000 in support of the Children's Wish Foundation - Nova Scotia Chapter.

Introducing...

The sudden and exciting appearance of a large mountain lion on the MSVU campus this year stunned and mystified the MSVU community. The very friendly Monty the Mountian Lion, MSVU's newest resident can be found roaming around campus, reading books in the library and visiting various professors for guidance in higher learning. Amidst all the excitement of campus life, Monty loves to get involved with the Students' Union. Keep your eyes peeled MSVU, this cool cat is here to stay!

The Bus Stops Here: MSVU Students Get U-Pass Program

March 5, 2007, Halifax, NS - Taking the bus to Mount Saint Vincent University (MSVU) just got cheaper and easier, thanks to an agreement between MSVU Students' Union and Metro Transit to bring the U-Pass program to the university in September 2007.

"The U-Pass agreement is a huge accomplishment for students at the Mount. Most of us live off-campus and do not have vehicles and Metro Transit is our only possible mode of transportation," says Lisa Templin, MSVU Off-Campus Representative. "Walking or cycling on the Bedford Highway is sometimes difficult. With the U-Pass, our transportation costs are covered when we pay our tuition. Getting to campus is faster and transportation is one less thing to worry about when we're studying for exams and writing papers."

The U-Pass allows all full-time undergraduate students, unlimited use of the Metro Transit services throughout the academic year, for as little as $120.

In a referendum question, MSVU Students' Union asked students whether or not they wanted to adopt the U-Pass program for the 2006/2007 academic year. The results were clear; 87% voted in favour and only 12% voted against A total of 32% of the student population voted in this referendum.

The U-Pass program that has been in effect at Dalhousie University and the University of King's College since 2006 and has been offered at Saint Mary's University since September 2003.

"We are so pleased for our students," says Helle Haven-Petersen, Executive Vice President, MSVU Students' Union. "This is something that we have been working on for such a long time, and it's just great to see it become a reality. This will mean great savings for students," Haven adds.

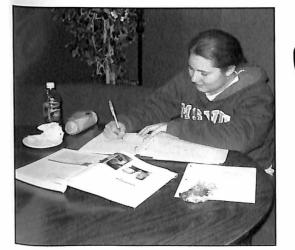

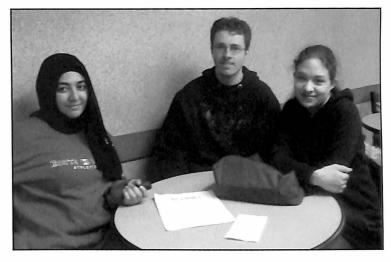

Jeremy Neilson, MSVU Canadian Studies student, loves the bus and loves the U-Pass

Congratualtions to the Mount Saint Vincent University Class of 2007

▲ SMALL BILLS PRODUCE BIG CHANGE. Bangladeshi economist Muhammad Yunus was awarded a Nobel Peace Prize for his pioneering strategy of bankrolling poor people to enable them to start small businesses. Microcredit financing helps the poor to access loans without a down payment. The Grameen Bank was founded by Yunis in 1976 with $27. It now boasts 6.6 million borrowers in 70,000 Bangladeshi villages. The average loan is $227, and 97 per cent of the borrowers are women.

A SPOTLIGHT ON DARFUR. The United Nations renewed efforts to revive the stalled peace process in the war-torn Darfur region of Sudan. More than 200,000 people have been killed and at least two million others displaced since 2003 largely because of fighting between government forces, militias and rebel groups. Almost 4 million people are dependent on humanitarian aid, but unstable conditions have led to the withdrawal of many relief workers. Meanwhile actor George Clooney uses star power to keep the world's attention focused on the crisis. He has traveled to the war-ravaged region, where he describes the situation as "ethnic cleansing," and produced a documentary of the horrors he saw. He has also lobbied China, Egypt and the UN for action to halt the violence. (Timothy Smith-U.S. Navy/KRT)

▼ THE SUMMER WAR. On July 12 the Lebanese militant group Hezbollah kidnapped two Israeli soldiers. Israel responded with a military assault to defeat the Shia organization. While Hezbollah launched hundreds of deadly missiles into Israel, that country flattened swathes of southern Lebanon and Beirut. Trapped international civilians, including 15,000 Canadians, fled Lebanon by ship. After 34 days, a shaky ceasefire was imposed but more than 1,000 civilians were dead, Hezbollah had survived and the two Israeli soldiers were still missing.

▲ PANDA PERFECTION. Eighteen panda cubs left their mothers and moved into a kindergarten at China's Wolong Nature Reserve in February. Aged between five and seven months, the endangered animals will be raised together until their first birthday when some could leave their outdoor school to join the estimated 1,600 pandas still found in the wild. (AP)

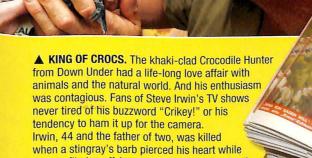

▲ YOUNG, ROYAL AND HUNKY. With a murmured "I love the uniform...it's so sexy," Kate Middleton admired boyfriend Prince William as he graduated from Britain's Sandhurst military academy in December. The future king of England will spend younger brother Prince Harry (right, with William and father Prince Charles) is making the army his career, with Iraq his first foreign tour. (NPA Rote-Express Syndication/KRT)

▲ SEE-THROUGH August they'd foiled though they did make one exception-J.K.

▼ FREE AT LAST. During the eight years of her confinement, largely in a windowless room under a house in Strasshof, Austria, Natascha Kampusch waited for an opportunity to run. On Aug. 23 the moment arrived when kidnapper Wolfgang Priklopil left her alone to get the phone. After reuniting with her joyful family, relatives and Austria that "they the 18 year old reassured both her don't have to worry about where I am anymore." (Ronald Zak/AP) from Down Under had a life-long love affair with animals and the natural world. And his enthusiasm was contagious. Fans of Steve Irwin's TV shows never tired of his buzzword "Crikey!" or his tendency to ham it up for the camera. Irwin, 44 and the father of two, was killed when a stingray's barb pierced his heart while he was filming off Australia's Great Barrier Reef (Bob Pepping)

STANDING IN LINE. Passport applications skyrocketed after the U.S. started demanding the documents from five weeks were reported for the blue document. A CHILDREN'S CHAMPION. For his decade-long fight to free children from poverty and forced labour, Craig Kielburger was awarded the World's Children's Prize for the Rights of the Child by Queen Silvia of Sweden in 2006. Back in 1995, Kielburger, then 12, founded Free the Children with a group of classmates. Since then the organization has built more than 450 schools in 21 countries as well as giving farm animals and sewing machines to 20,000 mothers, allowing their kids to be educated rather than being forced to work. THE BIGGEST BATTLES SINCE THE KOREA WAR.
When more than 2,000 Canadian troops poured into the Afghan province of Kandahar, a hotbed of terrorist activity, generals warned the public to prepare for both war and casualties.
The soldiers fought ferocious battles with the Taliban while also building schools and clinics. By the end of 2006, 44 Canadian troops had died. Still soldiers' morale remained high, supplemented, no doubt, by the opening of a Tim Hortons on base. (Photo left: Capt Dave Murall) (Photo above: Sqt Dennis Scnolink-Dutch Army)

▶ TERROR COMES TO CANADA. The charges last summer against 18 Canadians, all Muslim, are chilling. Police believe the Toronto-area men, including five teens, planned to behead the prime minister and attack Parliament. Their alleged goal was to get Canadian troops out of Afghanistan. Their arrests were triggered after the accused accepted delivery of a fertilizer, which can be used to make a bomb. Police reportedly learned of the plot in its early stages and had two informants telling of the group's every move. Family and friends stood by the accused, professing their innocence. WHAT IF HE'D STARTED WITH A COFFEE MUG? Back in 2005, Kyle MacDonald of Belcarra, B.C., looked at a red paperclip and wondered if he could trade it for a house. He offered to exchange it online and within two days was the owner of a fish-shaped pen. More barters followed—including a generator and even a film role—until he got a two-storey house in Kipling, Sask., on July 12, 2006. (Troy Fleece/CP) determined that, partially because of faulty information given by the RCMP linking Maher Arar to al-Qaeda, the Americans sent the dual-Syrian-Canadian citizen to Syria in 2002. He was imprisoned and tortured for 10 months before being released. RCMP commissioner Giuliano Zaccardelli resigned over the scandal. Then, in January, Prime Minister Stephen Harper apologized on behalf of the government and gave Arar more than $10.5 million. Even so, Arar lamented, "I wish there was a way I could buy my life back."

■ THE POWER OF GREEN. No one can accuse Elizabeth May of being a late convert to the environmental cause. For 17 years she was executive director of the Sierra Club of Canada and helped create a grassroots network devoted to protecting the Earth's ecosystems. Last August she was overwhelmingly elected leader of the Green Party of Canada and set about capitalizing on the electorate's new-found environmental zeal. By the spring, the Greens were within striking distance of the New Democratic Party in opinion polls—which is impressive considering the party doesn't have an MP in Parliament.

▲ RISING TO THE TOP. Former environment and intergovernmental affairs minister Stéphane Dion is the new leader of the federal Liberal party, defeating frontrunner Michael Ignatieff in December. The geeky 51-year-old's quiet determination impressed party members at the Montreal convention and turned what looked like an Ignatieff coronation into a cliff-hanger. To heal party divides, Dion quickly appointed his defeated opponent as deputy Liberal leader and focused his, and the party's, attention on winning the next federal election. ▲ STOP IT! A climatologist described the winter storms that slammed into British Columbia's Lower Mainland as "jumbo jets on the airport tarmac. You had one coming in right after another." In November, a huge wind-and-rain storm left more than 200,000 houses without power and around two million Vancouver-area residents under a "boil water" advisory. A month later, a mammoth windstorm uprooted at least 3,000 a "boil water" shistoric Stanley Park, clear cutting swathes of the urban forest. The only upside to the storms: a great ski season in B.C.'s interior. (Ryan Remiorz/CP)

▼ TOUGH TEXAS TRIO. Back in March 2003, Natalie Maines (centre) told a British audience her band was "ashamed the President of the United States is from Texas." The backlash from U.S. country music fans was fierce, and the Dixie Chicks' career went flat. But their 2006 CD Taking the Long Way struck a chord with more than just country fans, and earned them five Grammy awards including album and song of the year. Contrary to the title of their hit single, seems they just might be ready to make nice.

▲ RED HOT ROCK. Within days of winning four Grammys for Stadium Arcadium, their first album to debut at No. 1, the Red Hot Chili Peppers announced they will take part in the July 7 Live Earth concerts that will include shows in China, South Africa, Australia, Britain, Japan, Brazil and the U.S. Event organizers hope to reach a two-billion-strong audience to address the global climate crisis. The Peppers, including singer Anthony Kiedis (above), have perfected a super-charged rock sound and crazed performing style that's guaranteed to wow the crowd at any

■ BLUNT INSTRUMENT. His intimate, confessional single You're Beautiful, which features a sweet, sparse falsetto, was inescapable listening on pop radio stations nationwide, riding the Billboard Hot 100 for 38 weeks. The track eclipsed the other nine songs on James Blunt's debut album Back to Bedlam and portrayed a vulnerable side that is at odds with the macho image of this former British army officer who served in Kosovo in the late 1990s. But a music career was always Blunt's goal, and he has happily swapped guns for guitars.

A DREAM DUET. Imagine performing live, on stage with Justin Timberlake. That dream became a reality for Robyn Troup, 19, of Houston, Tex. After she won the "My Grammy Moment" contest, Troup sang Timberlake's recent No. 1 hit My Love with the man himself at the February awards show. Timberlake, meanwhile, to home two Grammy awards to add to his collection. (Mark J. Terrill/MP)

▲ INSANE SUCCESS. Their run-away hit single Crazy was arguably the most adventurous, irresistible song of 2006, blending soul and rock in a tune that appealed to just about everyone. Gnarls Barkley, the quirky duo that is DJ/producer Danger Mouse (Brian Burton) and rapper/singer Cee-Lo Green (Thomas Callaway), love to dress up in an ever-rotating roster of costumes — everything from airline flight crew uniforms to Star Wars characters. Nominated for four Grammys, the pair's St. Elsewhere won for best alternative album, and their wild antics earned the best urban/alternative performance Grammy for Crazy.

NELLY GETS LOOSE. With help from hip-hop super producer Timbaland, the little girl from Victoria, B.C. created a slick, R&B-hip hop sound. Nelly Furtado's third album, Loose, with hit singles Promiscuous, Maneater, Say It Right and All Good Things (Come to an End), reached No. 1 in North America. In April, the singer took time out from her five-continent world tour to host the Juno Awards in Saskatoon. (Kevork Djansezian/AP)

▲ BATTLE OF THE BULGE. Fried food, sugary sweets and salty treats may soon be on the endangered species list. Across North America, local governments are banning unhealthy foods. New Brunswick banned junk food from elementary school cafeterias and is phasing it out of high schools, while Winnipeg is attempting to meet Manitoba's guidelines for school food that call for severe restrictions on the sale of fries and pizza pops, and the outright banning of chocolate bars and soda pop. Vending machines are also experiencing an extreme makeover, with the candy and chips giving way to trail mix and yogurt drinks. While young people pack on the pounds and obesity rates soar, city councils, school boards and legislatures opt for lean and green. Say goodbye to that side of fries and hello to a fruit cup.

▲ iTUNES: TWO BILLION SERVED.

Music lovers in 22 countries around the globe have purchased more than 2 billion songs from the iTunes Music Store. Launched in April 2003, iTunes sold its first million tracks in just five days and since then it hasn't looked back. iTunes accounts for more than 80 per cent of legal music downloads in the United States. While digital music sales account for only 10 per cent of overall music sales, they total almost US$2 Billion a year. And that's music to Apple CEO Steve Jobs's ears. ▼ TOO HOT TO HANDLE. In the largest safety recall in the history of the consumer electronics industry, Dell Inc. agreed to replace 4.2 million notebook computer batteries made by Sony Corp. because they can burst into flames. After a number of laptops overheated and caught fire, other companies joined in with recalls of their own, swelling the number of batteries to be replaced to 9.6 million worldwide. Sony is feeling the heat. The burning issue now is whether the Japanese giant can recoup its reputation. (Matt Slocum/AP)

▼ GAMING: THE NEXT GENERATION.

The much-anticipated launch of Sony's PlayStation 3 saw eager gamers jostling for the few consoles that were initially available. PS3 features awesome, high-rez graphics: a treat for all video fans. Meanwhile, Nintendo's Wii lures players off the couch with its motion-sensitive control panel. Some gamers got so caught up in the action that they lost their grip on the wands and sent them crashing into TVs or other players. Ouch! (PRNewsFoto/Nintendo)

▲ ▼ IT'S ALL ABOUT US. Web traffic statistics show social network site MySpace is wildly popular in North America, and Facebook is a hit particularly with 17- to 25-year-olds. While studying might slide, we all work hard at other forms of homework: upgrading our profiles, surveying news feeds from friends, and tagging our photos. Chances are that one or the other site is your first visit of the day and your last visit before bed. The trend toward user-generated content caught the eye of Time magazine editors who name "You" their Person of the Year.

▲ TAKING JET-SETTING TO A NEW LEVEL. Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt have been racking up frequent-flier points. After a stint in Paris, they decamped to Namibia for the May birth of Shiloh. They'd barely returned to Los Angeles when the household hit the road again, this time to India to shoot A Mighty Heart. By January they'd moved into a New Orleans mansion, no doubt with movers on standby. (Tim Ockenden)

▼ REMEMBER WHAT HAPPENED TO PINOCCHIO! After the pop singer's nose changed shape, Ashlee Simpson, 22, wouldn't confirm speculation she'd had a nose job, telling People magazine, "everybody's already saying it, so I just don't talk about it. I'm like, okay, whatever, It doesn't bother me." Better publicity came months later, ironically, when she played publicity-mad Roxie Hart in the musical Chicago.

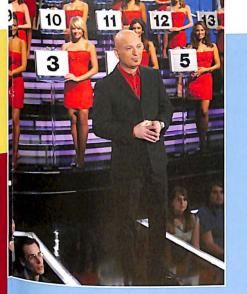

■ BFF. Paris Hilton's debut album failed but the party life of America's favourite heiress/celebrity continued unabated. In August, Las Vegas's mayor declared a Paris Hilton Day and two months later she ended her feud with Simple Life co-star Nicole Ritchie by being seen with the alarmingly thin author/celebrity. The show's fifth season will have the pair playing Malibu, Calif., camp counsellors. (Chris Carlson/AP)

▲ WHAT WAS THAT LINE AGAIN? After her divorce from Nick Lachey (above) was finalized last year, Jessica Simpson was rarely out of the headlines. In August, her appropriately titled album, A Public Affair, was released and then, years after Rosie O'Donnell inspired her by prophesizing "you're gonna be a star," she was O'Donnell's debut guest on The View. Her botched lyrics to Dolly Parton's "9 to 5" in a tribute to the singer are forgotten now that she's starring in a movie with Luke Wilson. The title says it all—Blonde Ambition.

▲ "SHAVED THAT MAN RIGHT OUT OF MY HAIR." In November, after giving birth to second son Jaden, Britney Spears filed for divorce from dancer-turned-wannabe rapper her decision with months of all-night partying. Her increasingly bizarre public apearances culminated with an impromptu hair shaving in February. Days later, a bald

▲ DRAWING THE LINE TO SUCCESS. Fox's American Idol might get all the attention but the network's domination of the TV animation schedule is equally impressive. Family Guy achieved the rare status of being brought back to life after cancellation by the strength of its fan base. Then there's American Dad!, the twisted tale of a CIA agent coping with his troubled home life and a Germanspeaking goldfish. But, duh!, nothing can match the subversive wit of The Simpsons, now closing in on two decades on air. (FOX)

◄ THE LITTLE SHOW THAT

COULD. Heroes' quirky premise of ordinary people with extraordinary skills worried NBC execs. But fans were instantly drawn to characters including a geeky Japanese office worker who can stop time and an un-killable cheerleader with the creepy "Horned-Rim Guy" as her father. When its slogan "Save the cheerleader, save the world" was uttered, Heroes rescued NBC's Monday ratings. (Chris Haston/NBC)

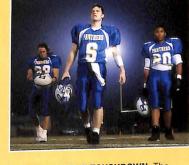

Capitalizing on Apple's coolness quotient, its Spartan Mac commercials simply featured two men personifying computers. The dry wit of John Hodgman (PC guy) played off the hip Justin Long (Mac guy) and viewers' sympathy towards the geeky PC guy, desperately trying to finesse his

Recognizing its cult status, NBC threw the show a Hail Mary and picked it up for the season. (Paul Drinkwater/NBC)

Shrugging off her American Idol rejection, Jennifer Hudson displayed her impressive pipes as well as her acting skills in Dreamgirls by playing Effie, the Dreamettes' lead singer who is dumped so svelte Deanna (Beyoncé Knowles) can break the group into superstardom. Hudson's heartbreaking rendition of And I Am Telling You (I'm Not Going) was so powerful that one preview audience gave it a standing ovation.

▲ ROMEO AND JULIET, GREASE, FOOTLOOSE and now...Disney's High School Musical was about a jock (Zac Efron) and an academic (Vanessa Hudgen) who, drawn together by their love of singing, try out for the school musical. An instant hit, the made-for-TV movie spawned the year's No. 1 CD, a bestselling DVD and a blockbuster concert tour by the movie's stars. More than 2,000 amateur groups will stage their own versions of the show this year and a sequel will be out in the summer. It's truly the Grease of the iPod generation.

A FASHION WORLD FOLLIES. In The Devil Wears Prada, Andy Sachs (Anne Hathaway) was an average young woman wearing chain store clothes. Yet Miranda Priestly (Meryl Streep), the superciliously arrogant editor of "Runway" hired her as a new assistant, loading her down with impossible tasks such getting the unpublished Harry Potter book. Along the way Sachs got a killer wardrobe and realized what she wants out of life while viewers got a hilarious look inside the fashion world, set to a great soundtrack. (Barry Welcher/Fox)

A JACK IS BACK. The second Pirates of the Caribbean film, Dead Man's Chest saved the summer movie season when fans plunked down more than US$400 million to see the swashbuckling adventures of glam-rock Capt. Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp, centre), and ever-separated sweethearts Will Turner (Orlando Bloom) and Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley). Whether the cute couple will ever get hitched will be revealed in the series' final installment, due this summer. Just in time to rescue another summer movie season.

■ A BUFF BOND. Daniel Craig claimed the James Bond character as his own in the opening of Casino Royale when he made his first kill by bashing a man into a bloody pulp. Displaying an impressively-muscled body, the British actor turned the suave tuxedoed super-spy into a chillingly bruta assassin who, thank heavens, works for the good guys.

Dupree, Owen Wilson perfected his slacker/Valley-boy act. Why newlyweds Carl (Matt Dillon, left) and Molly (Kate Hudson) allowed Dupree to crash at their house when he lost his job and apartment is the question that echoes through this comedy. A THE JOKE'S ON US. Kazakhstan's government spent millions trying to pitch their central Asian country as a tourist destination, but no marketing campaign could change the fact that their most famous citizen is the fictional Borat Sagdiyev. British comic Sacha Baron Cohen's explicit, demented comedy, Borat: Cultural Learnings of America For Make Benefit Glorious Nation of Kazakhstan, was packed with ethnic, religious and sexual stereotypes as it showed off unscripted encounters between Borat and unsuspecting Americans. Talk of a sequel started the minute after it killed the competition at the box office. (Paul Drinkwater/NBC/Everett Collection)

A VROOMING UP THE BOX OFFICE LIST. Pixar has made hits such as Toy Story, Monsters, Inc., The Incredibles and Finding Nemo, but an animated film about cars that have eyes made from windshields? Gruise swings, literally, around Shanghai's skyscrapers to save the day and his career.

◄ THE INSULT SEEN AROUND THE WORLD. Italy should have dominated the headlines after defeating France to win the 2006 World Cup in a dramatic penalty-kick finale, but, instead, all the talk was about French captain Zinedine Zidane's head-butt of Italian defender Marco Materazzi. After the great French player (in the No. 10 jersey) was expelled by the ref, his team's chances drained away. Zidane, named the tournament's best player, later apologized for his action, saying that Materazzi had insulted his sister. (Gouhier-Hahn-Orban-Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ SO THERE! Peyton Manning had a reputation as a choker—his impressive field performances always buckled under the pressure of fans' expectations. ▲ WHO'S GOT CRAZY GLUE? The B.C. Lions were the best team in the CFL last season, so it was only fitting that they'd dominate the Grey Cup with a decisive 25-14 win over the Montreal Alouettes. In 2006, his record was 92-5, he's already passed Jimmy Connors' record for consecutive weeks at No. 1 and, with 10 grand slam wins, should pass that record of 14 by early 2008. ▲ BLAME IT ON EL NIÑO. According to officials at the U.S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, last year was the warmest in the U.S. since record keeping began 112 years ago, due in large part to an unusually warm December. While the eastern half of North America basked in record-breaking warm temperatures well into January, leaving the ski industry there struggling, Denver dug out from multiple blizzards that dumped dozens of feet of snow. Meanwhile California's citrus crop was flash-frozen on the tree when the thermometer plummeted, and the Pacific coast suffered through wind storms, heavy snowfalls and torrential rain. The major cause of the wacky weather? El Niño, a condition that involves a periodic warming of Pacific Ocean waters near the equator. (Tom Fox-Dallas Morning News/MCT)

▲ THE HOTTEST STORY. From wildfires across the U.S. Southwest, to floods in India, to melting ice caps in Greenland and Antarctica, to drought in Africa, to Cyclone Larry, a category 5 storm that hammered Australia, the global warming crisis is upon us. Our CO₂ emissions, mostly from burning fuel — gasoline for cars and coal for electricity— trap heat from the sun and raise global temperatures. These greenhouse gases were the focus of former U.S. presidential candidate Al Gore's Oscar-winning movie An Inconvenient Truth. The film demonstrated that when temperatures rise. climatic disasters strike hard and will keep coming as planet Earth attempts to fight the fever. (Steve Ringman-Seattle Times/KRT)
